$19,231 Plus County Budget Aired, Hearing 15th; Will Study Pay Hike

A tentative budget for 1966, only $19,231 larger than the current budget, was presented to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Friday night by County Budget Officer Robert A. Snyder. There will be a public hearing on the budget at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 15, at the County Office Building.

The proposed budget calls for total appropriations of $10,266,156.11. Estimated revenues are $5,326,872.63 which with an estimated surplus in the General Fund of $400,000, a total of $5,726,872.63, will leave to be raised by tax levy on real property the sum of $4,539,283.48.

In the 1965 budget the amount to be raised by real property tax was $4,520,052.00.

Board to Meet 16th

However, the budget which will be adopted by the board following the public hearing, will depend on adjustments which may be made following the public hearing. The board will meet on Thursday, Dec. 16 at 8 p. m. to approve a budget.

A resolution offered by Majority Leader James A. Rapp, (R), 1st Ward, calling for an overall 15 per cent increase in the salary schedule, for all county employees except those who receive $10,000 or more a year, and the Highway employees who have already been granted a raise, was referred to the Salary Study and the Budget Committee for further study. The vote was 23 to 3 for referral.

Rapp's resolution brought forth a lengthy debate.

A member of the Salary Study Committee, Rapp offered the resolution on his own behalf and not on behalf of the other three members of the committee.

Pointing out that salaries of county employees were lower than in surrounding counties, Rapp said Ulster County trained employees and then "lost them to other counties" where salaries were better. He noted that the Ulster County Health Department is entitled to 15 health nurses, but is operating with only six, including full and part time employees. It has been impossible to get an engineer in that department for over 3½ years because of the low salary despite a $500 salary increase offered. Three employees of the county clerks office have or are terminating their employment due to low salary, Rapp reported. Salaries of numerous employees in various departments are supplemented by state and federal aid, Rapp pointed out and relieves the county taxpayers of the full cost of any increase.

Lengthy Discussion

He moved that a tentative raise of 15 per cent be granted pending final recommendations by Civil Service, the Budget Director, the Salary Study Committee and others involved in a study of the salary problem.

Watrous 49th Traffic Victim

Mishaps Injure 12, Six Are Arrested

Twelve persons were injured and six were cited for violations, as the result of a rash of motor vehicle collisions in the city and other parts of Ulster County Friday and early today. A prominent Kingston business man died of injuries suffered in a collision in the city earlier this week.

Was Injured Wednesday

Leslie B. Watrous, 69, president of L. B. Watrous Inc., an appliance business at 693 Broadway, was injured Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. in a two-vehicle collision at Wiltwyck Avenue and Elmendorf Street. He died in Kingston Hospital at 5:40 p. m. Friday.

His death was the 49th traffic fatality in the county this year.

Highland troopers cited three motorists on charges of driving motor vehicles while intoxicated, as the result of highway crashes in that area, one involving four cars. A Kingston man was charged with drunken driving and three persons were injured following car collisions investigated by city police.

According to police reports after the accident involving a truck operated by Mr. Watrous, he was heading north on Wiltwyck Avenue and James J. Pascoe Jr., 20, of 3 Abbott Court, Saugerties, was driving west on Elmendorf Street in a sedan, when the vehicles collided.

Suffered Severe Head Injury
Police said Mr. Watrous suffered head injury and internal injuries. It was reported that the head injury required surgery.

Pascoe was treated at Benedictine Hospital for leg and other possible injuries.

Leslie B. Watrous, of 693 Broadway, was born in Alton, N. Y., a son of the late Milton and Sarah Hubbard Watrous. He was a resident of Kingston more than 40 years and was a well known business leader and appliance dealer in the city for about 35 years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Laura Henderson; three daughters, Mrs. Harold Castor of Hurley; Miss Waneta B. Watrous of Brighton, Mass., and Mrs. John Simmons of Hurley. (Continued on Page 5, Col. 2)

Taxpayers Due Post-Yule Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's taxpayers will be getting a post-Christmas present — a $1.6-billion excise tax cut.

Under a bill passed by Congress last June, a variety of taxes will be chopped, some of them for the second time.

The measure's ultimate reduction has been estimated at $4.7 billion annually. The first round amounted to about $1.7 (Continued on Page 9, Col. 7)

New Restaurants Due, Two Going to Other Locations

By WALTER S. CLARK JR. (Freeman Staff Reporter)

Within the next few weeks or two months, two new restaurants will open in uptown Kingston and two more will move to new locations. A fifth restaurant recently opened in that section of the city.

In the center of Old Kingston's Stockade at Crown and John Streets, a modern restaurant-bar will be open under the name of The Stockade Restaurant, 33-35 Crown Street. The building, one of the original old stone structures, is being completely done over on the main floor, where the restaurant will be operated.

Colonial-type light fixtures, furnishings and furniture with other equipment are being installed to form a completely early American atmosphere for the restaurant's patrons. Home cooking will be a feature.

The restaurant will comprise a small bar which will seat 21, a dining area with seating arrangements for 60 persons, and a luncheonette which will accommodate 30 persons comfortably. Rug floors, old American beam ceilings with other features will add to the attractiveness of The Stockade, which is expected to open about Dec. 16 or shortly thereafter.

The Stockade Restaurant is in the center of convenient parking areas and the business section. Another new restaurant-bar will open early in 1966 at the Kingston Shopping Plaza near Britt's and the Triangle Shoe store. Frank J. Provenzano, owner of Chic's Rendezvous, 765-771 Broadway, will operate the new restaurant in addition to the one he now owns.

Provenzano formerly operated Hamburger Paradise on St. James' Street from 1952 until 1961 when he purchased Chic's from his brother, Louis and has

LBJ Hails Conviction Of Klansmen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — President Johnson says "the whole nation can take heart" from the conviction of three Ku Klux Klansmen in Montgomery on criminal conspiracy charges in the death of a civil rights worker.

Encouraging: King

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and other civil rights leaders said the verdict by the all-white jury Friday was an encouraging sign, but King added he felt new legislation still was needed to protect Negroes and civil rights workers.

The Klansmen were sentenced by U.S. Dist. Judge Franc M. Johnson Jr. to 10 years in prison in the shooting death of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white Detroit housewife.

The jury, which deliberated 11 hours, at one time told Judge Johnson they were hopelessly deadlocked. However, the judge ordered them to continue over the protests of defense attorney Arthur Hanes.

Hanes told Judge Johnson an appeal would be filed, and bond for the three men was set at $10,000 each. The Klansmen are Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala., and Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala.

The decision came about 24 hours after a jury of white men in Anniston, Ala., convicted Hubert Damon Strange, a 25-year-old white man, of second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of Negro Willie Brewster. Strange also was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment.

Called on Verdict

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach telephoned the President at Johnson City, Tex., from Washington to inform him of the verdict in the trial of the Klansmen.

Acting press secretary Joseph Laitin told newsmen: "The President told the attorney general the whole nation can take heart from the fact that there are those in the South who believe in justice in racial matters and were determined not to stand for acts of violence."

BETTER SUITED FOR SPACE—When astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell soar into space in their Gemini-7 capsule, they'll relax comfortably in new, lightweight space suits and soft, cloth hoods like that pictured above. The zipped-in hood, with enlarged face-plate, can be folded back out of the way. Under it is worn a standard fighter-pilot helmet. To two-layer suit, including four-pound crash helmet, weighs 16 pounds. Here it is modeled by NASA suit engineer Frederick Spross so NASA's James Corrae can point out its advantages.

Private Services to Be Held for Dr. John Krom

Funeral services for Dr. John B. Krom, 63, of 105 Fair Street, who died about 6:30 a. m. today in Kingston Hospital after he was stricken with a heart attack a short time earlier at his home, will be private.

Calling Hours Sunday

Friends may call at the A. Carr & Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl Street, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. Sunday. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

Dr. Krom is survived by his wife, the former Doris Barnum, and daughter, Barbara, wife of Frank E. Matthews. Three grandchildren also survive.

A member of the staff of Kingston Hospital and one of the most well-known and most respected members of the medical profession, Dr. Krom was held in high esteem by countless others.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb, in paying tribute to the deceased said: "Dr. John Krom contributed immeasurably to the dignity of the physician's role in this country and possessed unlimited kindness and great skill in his profession."

Headed Medical Society
A past president of the Medical Society of Ulster County, Dr. Krom was the son of the late Dr. James Krom who practiced medicine in the Saugerties area. He had practiced medicine in Kingston since 1928. Before opening his office he was associated two years with Dr. Frederick Snyder.

Served in Pacific
With the outbreak of World War 2, Dr. Krom closed his office for the duration and enlisted in the U. S. Navy Medical Corps to report for duty at the New York Naval Hospital. He was commissioned a lieutenant commander.

Dr. Krom served as a medical officer aboard the U.S.S. Chenango escort aircraft carrier, which was attached to the Third, Fifth and Seventh Fleets operating in the Pacific under Admiral Halsey and Admiral Spruance.

After extensive service in that theater of operations, he was promoted to commander in the Navy Medical Corps in October 1945. His duties included inspection of the ruins of Nagasaki after the dropping of the atom bomb. With the end of the war, Commander Krom's ship had been used to ferry Allied prisoners of war from Nagasaki to Okinawa, Guam and other bases in the Marianas.

In Uniform 40 Months
In December 1945, Dr. Krom was released from active duty at the Navy separation center in New York after 40 months' service. He had participated in Naval actions at Morotai, Leyte Gulf, Okinawa and the Third Fleet operations off Honshu. The following month he resumed his practice at 105 Fair Street.

Report Wilson Backs Duryea

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Woodstock) was reported by The Associated Press today as one of the declared backers of Assemblyman Perry B. Duryea Jr. of Suffolk County as the new GOP minority leader.

The AP said today that the organizational meeting of Republican assemblymen is a week away, but it is apparent they already have chosen Duryea.

In addition to Assemblyman Wilson, the AP said this morning that Duryea has picked up

Weather Is Promising For 14-Day Launch—Hoped for Rendezvous

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The final countdown began under a threatening, overcast sky today for man's longest space voyage, the 14-day flight of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

Little Questionable

"The weather's a little questionable," a space agency spokesman said, "but our weatherman tells us it should be okay at the time of the shot."

A Titan 2 rocket was to thunder to life at 2:30 p. m. (EST) to hurl Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell away from the earth on the start of their epic voyage.

If all goes well, they will rendezvous nine days from now with the two pilots of Gemini 6 and go hurtling around the world together, possibly only inches apart.

Technicians finished loading 215,000 pounds of fuel into the nine-story-tall Titan 2 at 2 a. m. The operation went without a hitch and the countdown began right on schedule at 8:30 a. m.

Ticking Right Along

"We're ticking right along," the spokesman said.

A solid but high overcast hid the rising sun as the big day began for Borman and Lovell, and forecasters said there was a possibility of showers during the day.

"But we're told by the weatherman that we shouldn't have any rain at 2:30," the space agency spokesman said, "and if the clouds don't drop any lower than 2,000 feet we probably can go."

Borman and Lovell were up before 7 a. m. they had a light breakfast of orange juice and toast about 7:15 a. m.

After a physical examination they had a mid-morning brunch of steak and eggs.

Backups Check Systems

The Gemini 7 backup pilots Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins, climbed into the spacecraft in early morning to check out radio and other systems.

The afternoon launch contrasts with previous U.S. man-in-space shots when the astronauts were up at dawn for early morning launches.

The Gemini 7 flight will crack all existing world space records — most of them held by the Gemini 5 crew which stayed aloft for eight days — and will provide the most extensive information yet on man's ability to withstand physically and mentally long exposure to the space environment.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon, said medical experiments have top priority and added: "The flight will determine if man can perform at the level we expect him to for this period of time."

In a tuneup for the rendezvous, Borman and Lovell today were to try to maintain a formation flight with the orbiting second stage of their Titan 2. They planned to keep within 100 to 300 feet for about 25 minutes just after achieving orbit.

Others Go Dec. 13

The Gemini 6 astronauts, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, are expected to take off in pursuit Dec. 13. The plan is to fly the two spacecraft in formation — perhaps only inches apart — for nearly six hours as they whip 185 miles above the earth at 17,500 miles an hour.

Most space agency experts believe they have a 50-50 chance or better to accomplish the rendezvous.

"If we can get them both off the ground, the odds on achieving rendezvous are high," said Flight Director Christopher Kraft. "We've got a good chance of doing it. There are three factors involved: how well the spacecraft operates, how well we do with the checkout of the Gemini 6 spacecraft and launch vehicle, and the weather. "Unquestionably we're going to have to have a lot going for us," Kraft added.

50-50 Odds

Air Force Lt. Col. Jack Albert, Titan 2 launch director, placed the odds at 50-50 and said another major factor will be the amount of blast and fire damage caused on Launch Pad 19 by the Gemini 7 blastoff.

If there is only the usual burned wires and charred metal, the Gemini 6 rocket and spacecraft will be hoisted into place within 28 hours.

Then will begin a furious nine-day period in which the launch team will attempt to conduct a checkout that normally requires 29 days. Crews will work around the clock to do it.

Schirra and Stafford are supposed to catch up with Borman and Lovell 5 hours 40 minutes (Continued on Page 5, Col. 6)

4 Regiments Near Saigon

Red Strength Hits Peak in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four North Vietnamese regular regiments have moved to within 60 miles of Saigon as Communist strength in South Viet Nam reached a record high, informed military sources report.

Nine Units Now

In all, nine North Vietnamese regular regiments have been confirmed as present in South Viet Nam, two more than reported earlier.

Intelligence estimates say the northern units total about 20,000 men. Viet Cong strength is given at about 234,000 full-time guerrillas.

The invasion by North Viet Nam — and officials here call it just that — began slowly earlier this year. The present level of infiltration runs in excess of about a regiment a month. The figure is expected to double soon to 4,500 a month.

The four highly mobile regiments, whose positions can and do change overnight, are ranged in a fan from northwest of the capital near the Cambodian border in Tay Ninh Province through Binh Long to the eastern edge of Long Khanh Province.

Bitter Fighting Looms

Although no one expects an all-out assault on Saigon, the sudden strengthening of Communist forces, in what has long been Viet Cong-dominated territory, certainly will mean bitter fighting for the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and Vietnamese units north of Saigon.

A South Vietnamese regiment was destroyed in vicious fighting 35 miles north of Saigon last week.

As the invasion steps up, more information on North Vietnamese movements comes from defectors and prisoners.

The five and possibly six regiments operating in the central highlands are supplied by two recently completed roads and by air, via Cambodia. A dirt airfield is about four miles inside Cambodia, northwest of Pleiku, the Vietnamese Highland Corps headquarters.

3 From Hanof's

Three of the regiments there are from the North Vietnamese 325th Division, which formerly had its headquarters in northern Cambodia near the Laotian frontier. Now its headquarters is west of Kontum City in South Viet Nam, about 260 miles north of Saigon.

The division brought in an estimated total of 25,000 tons of supplies before it opened its campaign for control of the highlands. Its headquarters is Nerve, highly mobile and includes more than 1,000 men and a radio network.

A key factor about the northern regiments, which number from 2,000 to 2,500 men each, is that they are fighting units with a minimum of personnel who do not carry guns into action.

Terrorists Bomb Hotel, Kill 11

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A small band of Viet Cong terrorists with machine guns blazing stormed and blasted an enlisted men's billet before dawn today, leaving 11 persons dead and scores injured.

The raiders escaped without a trace. The bomb they used to blast the eight-story Metropole Hotel in downtown Saigon took the lives of two Americans, a New Zealand trooper and eight Vietnamese.

Seventy-two Americans were injured and estimates of Vietnamese wounded ranged to more than 100, many of them women and children. Officials still had no exact figure this morning.

Calls Bombing Murder
U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge called the bombing "a diabolical act" and "murder."

The Viet Cong also broke a three-day lull in the war today with attacks on government outposts from the South China Sea to the central plains of the north.

A battle still raged late today about 20 miles south of Quang Ngai City in the central coastal (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

Dr. Flemming Leads Council of Churches Discussion

Favors Phased Pull-Out From Viet 'When Peace-Keeping Force Moves In'

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, formerly of Kingston, led the National Council of Churches' discussion Friday which resulted in the general board's recommendation of a phased withdrawal of U. S. troops from Viet Nam.

The recommendation stipulated that the phased withdrawal take place "if and when they can be replaced" by an international peace-keeping force.

Dr. Flemming, son of the late Judge Harry H. Flemming and Mrs. Flemming of Kingston, is presently president of the University of Oregon. He was secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower administration.

The NCC delegates adopted the policy statement on a 93-10 vote with six absences, according to an Associated Press report from Madison, Wis. Final action was reached after delegates debated the proposal for three hours.

Dr. Flemming called the church body's stand as a "genuine contribution" to working out the Viet Nam problem.

The policy making body started debate on the proposal Thursday night but laid over final action until Friday afternoon to give delegates time to read a clean copy of the amended version.

The NCC statement said: "We believe that a solution of the problem in Viet Nam can be essentially advanced when action is moved from the battlefield to the conference table."

Little dissent to the proposal was voiced by delegates to the board meeting of the council, a cooperative agency of 30 Protestant, Anglican and Eastern Orthodox denominations with a membership of almost 2 million persons, the AP said. Board statements are not binding on the individual denominations.

The Council statement urged that bombing of North Viet Nam be stopped "for a sufficient period to create a more favorable circumstances for negotiations."

The board deferred action on a proposed statement calling for the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Dr. Flemming, a former president of Ohio Wesleyan University, was born in Kingston and was graduated from Kingston High School. He received an AB degree from Ohio Wesleyan in 1927, an AM degree from American University in 1928 and an LLB degree in 1933 at George Washington University.

The former Kingstonian taught at American University from 1927-30; served as director of that university's School of Public Affairs from 1934-39 and as the school's executive officer from 1938-39. He was named president of Ohio Wesleyan in 1948.

The program will begin at 7 p. m. with a short period of devotions.

The Mendelssohn Club of Kingston will be presenting its Christmas concert from the parish room of the church Monday 8 p. m. The local group is a male chorus of some 40 voices under the direction of Albert Hunter. Mr. Hunter is a well-known choral conductor and is organist and choir director of the First Baptist Church, Mill Street, Poughkeepsie. Special soloist for the concert will be Mrs. Elmore Nathan of Kingston. The proceeds from this performance will be directed to the special projects of the church youth fellowships, including the senior high winter retreat at Frost Valley in January. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from any members of the fellowship groups. The public may attend.

Your Life and Mine

CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

THE KIND OF PERSONS WE ARE

A couple of years after the conclusion of the second World War, Francis P. Miller said that "Americans probably are the unhappiest people in the world—excepting the Germans. For some reason," said he, "the song has died on our lips. We are better informed than other people, but a wise man is surprisingly hard to find. Many envy our wrist watches," he added, "but few are attracted by the kind of persons we are."

We have rounded the bend of days and have entered once again that temporal territory which we call December. December means many things. It means short days and long nights. It means ice and snow, a sparkling crispness in the air—winter in earnest, it means skating and skiing; and the good fellowship around a lively fire in an open fireplace. But chiefly December means Christmas. And Christmas, we need to remind ourselves, is not tinsel and presents—the bright array of things to sell that are displayed on counters and in store windows. Basically Christmas has to do with what we are; a sparkled, with God's help, we can become.

Christmas is a beckoning to the thoughtful country. It is an invitation to sell out to the higher impulse that quickens the pulse of kindly living and charitable endeavor.

Christmas is a season for introspection. It is a time to look within to see what kind of persons we really are. If we grew honest with ourselves would we have to admit that, for the most part, we live very selfish lives? How much do we really care what happens to others? Do such terms as smugness and complacency come closer to describing us as we really are; than do terms like unselfish and compassionate?

These are key questions. And Christmas pushes them at us with a fervency that surpasses any other season of the year.

Two words most often associated with the blessings of Christmas are Peace and Joy. By way of comparing these two John Buchan has said that "peace is that state in which fear of any kind is unknown. But joy is a positive thing, in joy one does not only feel secure, but something goes out from one's self to the universe, a warm, possessive influence of love. There may be Peace without Joy, and Joy without Peace, but," says Buchan, "the two combined make Happiness."

1st Presbyterian To Have Holiday Program Sunday

Sponsored by the church school of the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf Street and Tremper Avenue, the annual White Christmas service will be held Sunday 5 p. m. in the sanctuary, with James F. McDonald, assistant church school superintendent, presiding.

Featured in the program will be a play, entitled: Why The Angels Sing For Joy, to be staged by members of the senior youth fellowship, under the direction of Mrs. Harry Flowers, youth advisor, with the following cast:

As Herod, Timothy Suenram; Lackey (Roman Soldier), Garry Flowers; chief counselor, Jean Herdman; three kings, Judy Millham, Marsha Suenram, and Mary McCullough; shepherds, Larry Flowers, Beth Auke, Linda Wynkoop, Chester A. Baltz III; Mary, Diane Van Aken; Joseph Garry Flowers; Angel, Diane Van Aken.

The musical program arranged and directed by Miss Edna Merriew, organist and choir director, will include the following numbers:

Organ prelude, Jesu Bambino by Yon; carol by the youth choir, Bells of Christmas by Whitlesey; Now Bright and Still by Williams; by quartette composed of Joyce Wert, soprano; Erna Granberg, alto; Edward Granberg, baritone; and John A. McCullough, tenor. Mr. McCullough will offer as solo Gounod's composition, Jesus of Nazareth. The program will also be interspersed with familiar Christmas hymns, and conclude with organ postlude, The Heavens Are Telling by Haydn.

The special offering, to be received in white envelopes, will go to the La Marina Neighborhood House in Puerto Rico, which is operated by the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. The public may attend.

Morning Devotions
The Rev. George Osborne of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 131 Franklin Street, will be the featured speaker for the Morning Devotions on WGHQ this week. The five-minute devotional period is jointly sponsored by WGHQ and the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association at 6:30 a. m. each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

AD MEN and VERTISERS NOTES

Brief items concerning regular local advertisers and regular national advertisers in

The Kingston Daily Freeman

Prepared By: WARREN W. SIMMONS, Advertising Director

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1965

Cablevision and Color for Christmas

Most extensive use of full-color advertising ever made by a local advertiser in The Freeman is Kingston Cablevision's current "Cablevision and Color for Christmas" campaign. With the number of color TV sets increasing at a rapid pace, plus the fact that independent and network TV stations are now telecasting most of their programs in color, Cablevision has provided a method by which prospective customers may receive free Cablevision installation through an authorized dealer with the purchase of a TV set—either color or black and white.

"The interest shown in color TV, and the response to our full-color advertising in The Kingston Daily Freeman has been gratifying," says George Gaillard, manager of Kingston Cablevision.

Father and Son Business Partners

Joseph Scholar & Son, located at 661 Broadway, was located at 714 Broadway where the store was established in 1933 by Joseph Scholar, Sr. In 1946 the firm moved to 65 North Front Street. A few years later the appliance firm purchased the stone building at 76-78 North Front Street where they celebrated their 25th anniversary and where they housed their appliances in one of Kingston's oldest colonial structures known as the DeWald Tavern.

In October 1962, Joseph Scholar and Son, appliance and heating business again moved to where they are now located. The building once housed the N. Stock's Furniture Company of whom Scholar purchased the property.

Father and son are associated in the business as partners, now in its 32nd year of service to the people of the Kingston area. The firm is exclusive factory representative for Frigidaire appliances, heating and air-conditioning-sales, service and parts. It is also exclusive representative for Caloric Ranges.

For ten years in succession Frigidaire has presented the firm of J. Scholar and Son with the award of merit for outstanding customer service. Scholar Jr., said today that the firm particularly emphasizes service and the "lowest possible prices with the best possible service."

New Home Is Now Under Repair

After 10 years of doing business downtown on 20 East Strand under the ownership of Martin Aaron, Fowler and Keith Hardware is keeping in step with the Urban Renewal expansion program by relocating its business. The hardware establishment will move into more space and more modern facilities at 104 Smith Avenue.

Mr. Aaron purchased the building at 104 Smith Avenue in April of 1964. This structure was originally constructed at the turn of the century; later rebuilt due to a fire in 1912 by F. B. Matthews who operated a wholesale grocery establishment.

Upon completion of the building, Fowler and Keith Hardware will be one of the largest hardware and mill supply companies from Kingston to New York City. It will occupy 38,000 square feet with complete parking facilities. There will be hundreds of familiar brands in plumbing, electric, paint, mill supplies of every description, small equipment, heavy equipment and a million and one items numerous to mention.

Mr. Aaron is pleased with this centrally located area since he will be able to better serve his customers from a location which is accessible to all points of the city. The big move will take place in January and February of 1966.

Mr. Aaron resides in Kingston with his wife, the former Lillian Levine and children, Steven 11 and Randi 7.

"Retail Discount House" Idea Successful

An "Idea" of Retail "Discount House" merchandising put into effect by the "team" of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Steele in July of 1950 has been proven successful. We say successful because of the progressive enlarging of this enterprise, 16 times in the 15 years of continuous service to area residents.

The "Basic" guarantee of the Bob Steele Auctions, which says and means literally, "all sales are not final here, if you are not completely pleased with any purchase, return it and your money will be refunded cheerfully and promptly," has proven to be what the public wants.

As has been repeated by the local people to day night, is a must! All Kingston Daily Freeman advertising is handled by adman Sherwood Lasher, pictured.

Bob Steele, former professional athlete and United States Army Captain has convinced the Kingston area people that his "Idea" is sound and a proven method of bringing bargains to the purchasing public. Bob Steele's Auctions definitely merits a visit by anyone who hasn't already been!

Homemade Rugs From All Over the World

The Colonial City Carpet Co. was incorporated in 1948 and opened to business in March of that year at 134 North Front Street. As the years went by the business increased and even though they had more than doubled their selling area, this year they had to occupy larger quarters, moving to 138 North Front Street.

This well-known carpet company carries quality carpet and rugs, the same as you would find in the best carpet and rug stores in the larger cities including handmade rugs from India, Persia, Japan, China (when available). Rugs from Turkey and Caucasus as well.

Mr. Patrick J. Holland who was born in Ireland is the owner of the firm and has been in the carpet and rug business since 1908. First in Boston with the R. H. White & Co., then to Losers of Brooklyn where he sold floor coverings and furniture for 12 years. Next, he went to Stern Brothers, New York in the Buying Division. Mr. Holland spent 33 years of his life buying fine rugs and carpets, and oriental rugs for high class stores before opening his store here in Kingston.

Mr. Peter B. Matthews has been associated with Colonial City Carpet Company since the opening in 1948.

Technic Shaving Is Here!

Six shaving edges on a continuous Razor Band . . . end blade handling forever. Watch for the national advertisement in The Kingston Daily Freeman, Monday, December 6th.

They've tried open a Technic cartridge to let you in on how it works. It's beautifully simple. Six shaving edges on a single stainless steel Razor Band are coiled and sealed inside—just like the film in a movie camera. Snap the cartridge into the razor and you're ready to shave—no wires, no plugs, no batteries and, most important, no blades to touch.

Whenever you're ready for a new shaving edge, you just flip the lever on the back of your Technic razor and a new edge locks into place (each edge lasts about a week, so there are many weeks of nonstop shaving in a cartridge).

Then, just snap out the old cartridge and snap in the new. So much for the gadgetry. Now about the Technic shave. You won't need a heavy hand; the Razor Band will do the work. You will hardly feel it. The Razor Band is made from a new kind of stainless steel. It is thinner than the whiskers it cuts—1/3 the thickness of a razor blade. And there's much less chance of a nick.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q—Who makes all those beautiful cakes I see in the ads? Are they really made from the same ingredients I use?

A—Women make the cakes. They are usually home economists, who are marvelous cooks and therefore achieve those perfect peaks in the icing every time. But the cakes you see are made with the same ingredients, under the same conditions, that you have in your own kitchen. What's more, every recipe, or product, has been tested and retested—often in homes like yours, as well as in test kitchens—before they see the light of advertising. And usually, most of the people who work on such projects are women close to the shopping and cooking habits of other women consumers.

Retailer Optimism Continues Through Christmas; See Sales Up 8%, Profits Up 5%

Nearly nine out of ten retailers throughout the United States and Canada expect Christmas volume this year to top 1964's record, according to a survey conducted through member daily newspapers of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

In a coast-to-coast survey of retailers, 87% look for sales gains this Christmas over a year ago. Ten percent say they feel business will remain about the same and only three percent look for a sales decline. The median sales increase anticipated by those retailers who expect a gain is eight percent. These estimates are almost identical with last year's survey when retailers posted the biggest Christmas sales volume in history.

Key reasons given for this optimism are strong economic conditions throughout the country, more money in consumer hands, (continued on Page 29)

WHO WILL GO TO COLLEGE?

All men may be created equal but high school seniors, just to be sure, had better be in the top 25 per cent of their class ranking.

This is the time for prayerful presentation of filled-out college applications and sweating it out waiting for acceptances.

Just who is to be allowed to go college? A great many beleaguered educational officials are struggling with the answer to that question.

The answer used to be: Anyone who wants to badly enough. The postwar baby wave washed us into deeper waters and we are all in the situation of trying to splash our way out.

The pattern which seems to be emerging is that all who really, deeply aspire for higher education can still be accommodated one way or another. However, to be sure of getting into the institution which is first preference, the high school senior will have to be in that upper quarter of his class.

State and private schools have valiantly pushed the expansion of extensions and branches. They have brought them to the large centers of potential students. Those seniors with lower class rankings thus can try a year or two of college while living at home to see if they can meet the requirements and move to the main campuses. Evening classes after hours in high schools serve the same purpose.

There has been ingenuity in this. Ohio State University, for example, has planes which carry faculty members to and from other cities of the state after campus hours so that he can teach evening classes.

Financial hurdles to college education have proven much more difficult. A complicated sorting system is developing to see that assistance goes to needy students of great potential. Here the key is the family's capacity to pay. There are a great many grants available right now and the government will add another 120,000 for next fall.

If the student's family cannot provide any funds, under the federal program he can get a grant of $800 a year. The amount varies according to the portion the government feels the family can carry.

These two factors, class ranking and family capacity to pay, appear to be the two important ones in this year's education equation.

The drop in unemployment by one-tenth of a per cent is said to be not statistically significant. It's nice for those included in the fraction, however.

GUIDE TO AID PROGRAMS

It is the most obvious of truisms that the United States has come a long way from the simple pioneer times, when a man relied on his own efforts or depended only on his immediate neighbors for occasional help. Though some consider it a moot question whether the change has taken us forward or backwards, no one can dispute that things are enormously different now. There are so many federal assistance programs that it is hard to keep track of what help is available to the beleaguered citizen.

Uncle Sam has at last recognized this problem. In a short time the Office of Economic Opportunity is coming out with a 414-page guide to "Federal Programs for Individual and Community Improvement." More than 250 programs operated by 16 federal agencies will be indexed.

It is not entirely a happy thought that assistance program are so numerous as to make such a book necessary. Its publication underscores the growing federal involvement in the private lives of people. Questions of governmental philosophy aside, however, the book is welcome as a guide through the labyrinth. It might even stimulate a push to simplify federal aid programs, which would be a good thing.

GROWING PAINS

A California state senator who has revived the old idea of making two states out of California is not likely to get much further with it than past champions. One thing Sen. Richard J. Dolwig said in espousal of the idea is worth some reflection.

NEW YORK (NEA)—The war in Viet Nam and trouble in Rhodesia have completely overshadowed the election of Suleyman Demirel as premier of Turkey.

Yet the overwhelming victory of his Justice party in Turkey's national elections considerably strengthens the United States' position in the strategic Mediterranean. It also bolsters the nations in NATO and in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) that are opposed to French President De Gaulle's apparent anti-American policies.

Demirel, 42, is a pragmatic pro-Western politician and the ablest leader Turkey has had since the death of Kemal Ataturk, the founder of modern Turkey, in 1928.

Ever since the overthrow and execution of Premier Adnan Menderes in 1961, Turkey, though traditionally anti-Russian, has been moving closer to an alliance with Moscow.

Scores of Russian agents and assorted Marxists in the army and the universities have tried to exploit U.S. neutrality in Turkey's dispute with Greece over Cyprus in order to drive a wedge between Washington and Ankara.

Their main target is some 42 million square yards of Turkish land on which American bases, the U.S. contribution to NATO, are located. The also advocate, in line with Russian policy, Turkey's withdrawal from the Western alliance and a neutralist foreign policy.

However, Premier Demirel made it clear that Turkey intends to honor her agreements with NATO and SEATO. "The American military bases are set up for Turkey's defense," he told his Marxist opponents. "They will remain on Turkish soil as long as they are needed."

Turkish diplomats are convinced that the victory of the Justice party was a direct result of President Johnson's determined policy in Viet Nam. It convinced the wavering that the United States is not a paper tiger and that the Johnson Administration means to stand by American obligations not only in Viet Nam but also in Turkey.

The pro-Russian Turkish Labor party thus received an insignificant vote in the elections. The Republican People's party of former Premier Ismet Inonu, which also wants closer ties with Russia, was swept out of power.

Turkey, though a key nation in NATO and SEATO, is an extremely poor country. She is trying desperately to emerge as a modern nation after decades of corruption and mismanagement. Premier Demirel, to stay in power, must inject new life into the country's economy. He must carry out his promised agricultural reforms especially in the poverty-stricken plains of Anatolia. Above all, he needs to find means to feed the hungry unemployed in the cities.

Demirel's success or failure will thus depend largely on the United States. Will American officials who administer U.S. aid really be to the occasion and bring speedy help to a firm ally rather than to dubious neutralist nations like Egypt and Poland?

Your Dental Health

New Dental Techniques
Now Save Broken Teeth

EL WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

People must be gnashing teeth more than ever these days. Maybe it's a sign of the times, what with the Viet war and the stock market so precariously high. There's certainly been a rash of broken teeth. Why, I even broke a piece off one of my own last week.

It's an awful feeling to be chewing on an hors d'oeuvre at a cocktail party and suddenly bite into something hard, wondering what they put into the hors d'oeuvres in this house, when lo and behold, your tongue makes a nasty discovery—a precious piece of tooth is missing.

After the initial shock, "oh, it can't be," and while you're still listening to the blonde, but feeling the sharp broken edge of your tooth with your tongue, you do begin to realize that it really happened to you and that you'll have to see your dentist on Monday.

Monday's schedule always includes a broken tooth or two, and sometimes the pre-cocktail set is included. 5-year-olds who fell off his bike, or the littler one who got pushed down the stairs by his loving brother.

Fortunately, most of these broken teeth can be repaired. Crowns and/or root canal therapy may be necessary to save them, but often repairs can be made with silver amalgam even if there isn't very much tooth left to support a filling.

Years ago these teeth were more likely to be extracted, but recently "pin-type retention" is being used successfully: small pins are counter-sunk and cemented into what's left of the tooth and the filling is built around them. It's a marvelous idea and deserves a try when the only other solutions are a more costly crown, or extraction and bridge.

If the fracture involves the nerve, extraction may be necessary. But even in these cases the nerve can often be extirpated, root canals filled, and pins placed to hold the amalgam filling in place. Pins can be used to support crowns, too.

Front teeth present a different problem, particularly in young people and small tykes. Many teeth can be saved if medicated fillings are placed over the fractured area. This also relieves pain. Sometimes it's necessary to place a metal or plastic crown over the tooth in order to contain the medication. The injured tooth should be taken out of contention with opposing teeth so that it won't be continually traumatized. It's like putting a sprained arm in a sling to give it rest.

Don't wait until it hurts. See your dentist as soon after the accident as you can. You're more likely to have a tooth left if you do.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

tion, just the same, because it brings the state's main problem into such sharp focus.

"We have a population of 19 million," Dolwig said. "This single state is now larger than about three-quarters of the governments of the world."

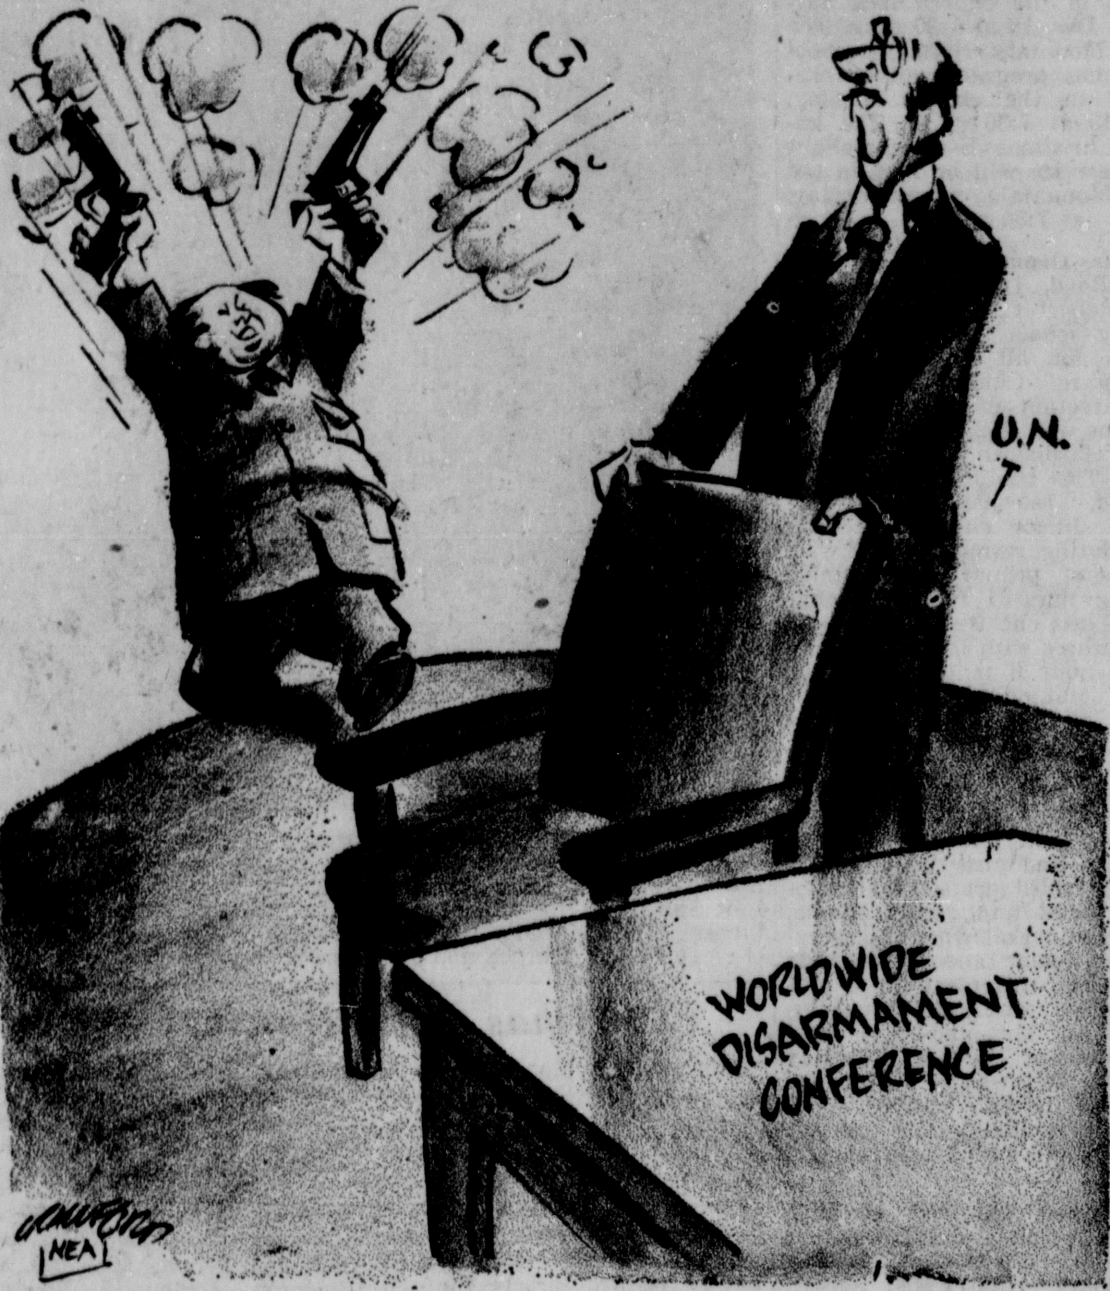

That statement gives some insight into the difficulties that beset those responsible for governing California at the state and community level. In a sense, all of these difficulties spring from a common source—from the enormous increase in population, brought largely by the steady influx of new residents from the East and Middle West.

The demand for expansion of all public facilities and services—roads, schools, police and fire protection, and so forth—is unprecedented.

Dividing California into two states is doubtless not the answer. But the fact that it is seriously proposed helps to illuminate California's problems.

Hollywood's film makers have gotten interested in car-racing—which gives them something in common with people who drive to and from work every day.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The major supply base for Ho Chi Minh's southern army may be Cambodia. The orders come from Hanoi. But they may go through a Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Tay in Phnom Penh. Cambodian contacts say Tay commands Ho's "Cambodia-Laos Front."

A former high-ranking officer in this Cambodia-Laos Front who was later a trusted aide of President Diem on Viet Cong affairs informs me that under Tay's direction five regiments were organized in Cambodia in the late 1940s. He thinks they are still there and that more have been added. He believes the North Vietnamese—Cambodia Front now has a mainline force of 20,000 to 30,000.

"CONTROL OF CAMBODIA," he says, "is not in the hands of Prince Norodom Sihanouk. Sihanouk told me once he hates both North and South Vietnamese. But what can he do? Gen. Tay could defeat Sihanouk's army in a few days. Sihanouk knows this. Besides, he gets a commission for letting his country be used as a base and staging area for arms, equipment and supplies for Ho's army."

"My information is that weapons, ammunition and other military and medical supplies for the North Vietnamese troops come directly in by ship through a Cambodian port."

"A good many of these weapons and supplies come to Cambodia from Red China, the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. Considerable amounts of supplies, including medicine, come into a Cambodian port from France."

"Because Sihanouk's Cambodia is so useful as a 'neutral' base, safe from U. S. attack, Ho lets Cambodia stay independent. But Ho doesn't trust this second-grade prince.

"The mistake you Americans make is to think that this is a North Viet Nam-South Viet Nam war. Ho thinks of Indo-China—North and South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos—as one political-military unit. If he wants troops in the south, he doesn't have to move them from North Viet Nam. He can get them from any areas he controls in these four countries. The same for supplies. Why bring supplies in over a rough route from North Viet Nam, bombed all the way by U. S. planes? Why not bring them in over the short route from Cambodia?"

FOR 15 YEARS, THIS MAN SAYS, Ho's Cambodia-based units have recruited their men from the local North Vietnamese community, which now totals 500,000. Cambodian-born Vietnamese are called up at age 20, drilled locally. Selected men go to North Viet Nam for specialized training. For many years, the 325th Division at Do Luong in North Viet Nam acted as the training division for Cambodian unit officers. Replacements for regimental casualties come directly from Cambodia.

The prosperous North Vietnamese community in Cambodia, heavily entrenched in fishing and rural rice distribution, he says, is the "voluntary tax and food supply base for Ho's occupation army."

THIS FORMER CAMBODIA Front officer says: "I don't know the present location of Ho's Cambodian regiments. But some years back they were located up and down the central backbone of Cambodia, at points with easy road and water access into South Viet Nam and Thailand."

"One regiment, for example, could move quickly to Viet Cong War Zone D, just north of Saigon, where heavy B-52 raids have centered. Another was on a direct route to the VC Plain of Reeds base west of Saigon. Another was positioned to move into the big Ho coastal base at the southwest end of South Viet Nam."

"Tay's military strategy called for a company or battalion of one of these regiments to serve as the backbone of an operation. But for every 200 of his Cambodia-based regulars in a fight, there would be 500 or more local guerrillas and provincial troops."

Repeatedly, attack and destroy the major so-called "secret bases" of the Viet Cong. These supply-training-command bases are hidden in mountain forests.

Many South Vietnamese believe that these bases are impregnable.

This has given the Viet Cong Havens where they recuperate, reorganize, re-equip and drill their forces and plan their next operations. If U. S. forces can regularly wipe out these bases, one more myth of Viet Cong invincibility would be destroyed and the confidence of the Vietnamese armies increased.

To give quick helicopter and air support to South Vietnamese military units, hamlets and villages attacked by the Viet Cong.

To keep up the air pressure on North Viet Nam's rail and truck routes to the south and to Red China. Planes will regularly hit North Viet Nam's oil storage depots, barracks and other military targets.

To keep up the air pressure on the Pathet Lao and the North Vietnamese armies in Laos. This will make it more difficult for Ho Chi Minh to shift a major part of his strength from Laos to South Viet Nam.

To cut the seaborne arms-and-men traffic from North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam. Eventually this action might be extended to a blockade of arms traffic to the North.

These are parts of the first stage of the current U. S. military-political operation in South Viet Nam. They are calculated to prevent the Viet Cong from winning the war. These operations taken alone, are not expected to win the war.

To win, there will have to be a second and then a third stage.

To seek and destroy the Viet Cong units of battalion or regimental size.

The purpose is to force the V. C. to drop back to squad platoon or company-sized operations. Hopefully, well-trained local Vietnamese defense units will be able to handle these small-scale attacks with the aid of "quickly available" helicopter-borne reinforcements and air strikes.

To re-establish railway and highway traffic through the major portions of South Viet Nam. The railroads are cut badly. Highway traffic is difficult in many areas, except by major armed convoys.

America's Blueprint For Viet Nam Peace

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — High U. S. military and civilian government officials are convinced as of now that the war in Viet Nam will last another 10 years.

Some are beginning to expect that even by 1975 the war will not be won (or settled) officially by negotiations and a treaty.

They think the victory, when and if it comes, may be by default as it was in Greece 15 years ago. The Red Chinese and North Vietnamese are not going to give up. But they may gradually cut their aid as the pay-off seems less worth the price they're paying. The Viet Cong guerrillas won't quit, but they will have become ineffective.

Thus far, the United States has not begun to win. It has not yet taken back from the Viet Cong any appreciable territory that was V.C.-controlled. And it has not yet built up the local government and local defense forces to the point that they can defend themselves, enabling U. S. forces to move on to another district.

But the United States has gone on the offensive. The first objectives are clear-cut:

To seek and destroy the Viet Cong units of battalion or regimental size.

The purpose is to force the V. C. to drop back to squad platoon or company-sized operations. Hopefully, well-trained local Vietnamese defense units will be able to handle these small-scale attacks with the aid of "quickly available" helicopter-borne reinforcements and air strikes.

Amsterdam Acts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Amsterdam city officials agreed formally today to build $6 million in sewage-treatment facilities by 1971 to stem its pollution of the Mohawk River.

Amsterdam's corporation counsel, Michael J. Riccio, outlined the plan at a hearing conducted by the State Health Department. Construction is to get underway by May 1, 1969.

The hearing was one of a continuing series conducted by the department in a drive to force communities and industries throughout the state to stop polluting state waters.

Citizens Group Assists School Board on Vote

NEW PALTZ — Monday evening, the Committee of One Hundred which includes over 100 registered voters in the New Paltz Central School District met to formulate plans to assist the board of education in its effort to make the public aware of the extreme problem with which they are faced in the matter of classroom space.

Robert Reid, president of the board of education explained the problem with the use of posters prepared by Dr. and Mrs. Richard Petersen. Questions by those attending were answered by the Supervising Principal, Frederick C. Dippel, and various board members. A booklet, for the convenience of the committee members entitled Fact About the Building Program was distributed.

A list of the registered voters was posted and each committee member chose a number of these names he will be responsible to contact and to explain the seriousness of the problem.

At the close of the meeting during refreshments the board members circulated among the members to answer questions and receive the many valuable suggestions that this group had to offer.

Methodist Activities

Sunday morning worship services at the New Paltz Methodist Church are held at 8:30 and 11 a. m. The sermon this Sunday will be delivered by the Rev. Roy Hassell. Care nurseries are available for the 11 o'clock service.

At 5 p. m. on Sunday, the Senior MYF will have a dinner meeting at the church and continue plans for Christmas decorations of the church. All youth grades 9-12 may attend.

Saturday at 1 p. m. the senior high youth fellowship will meet at the church to decorate the sanctuary for the Christmas season.

Wednesday, the WSCS will hold its monthly meeting at 6:30 p. m. for a covered dish supper. There will be a program entitled Symbols in Christmas Art by Mrs. Kenneth Baumgartner.

The combined choirs of the New Paltz Methodist and the Stone Ridge Reformed Churches will present the Messiah at the New Paltz Methodist Church Sunday, Dec. 19, 7:30 p. m. The director will be Edward Green, choir director of the Stone Ridge Church and the organist will be Mrs. Kenneth Baumgartner of the New Paltz Methodist Church. All members of the community may attend this performance of the well-known Christmas musical selection presented by this combined 30-voice choir.

Students Give Holiday Program

A Thanksgiving Assembly was held at the New Paltz Central School. It began with the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, the singing of our National Anthem and the Prayer of Thanksgiving.

The program opened with Let Us Break Bread Together, sung by alto soloist Nancy O'Byrne and the high school chorus. The second song was Praise the Lord: Ye Heavens, with solo voices: Valerie Arena, Jacqueline Stone, Reid Macky, Robert Frija, and a quartet of Karen Barr, Nancy O'Byrne, Judy Pallus, and Robert McKenna. The high school chorus.

Mrs. George Bond is vocal music director, assisted by student directors Martha Sherwig and Nancy O'Byrne, and accompanists Judy Keator and Mary Winkly.

Local Senior to Play With All-State Group

When the New York State Orchestra presents its annual concert at the Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake on Dec. 7, one of the performers will be a New Paltz High School student, accompanied by the music which is to be performed at the annual concert. This year the concert will take place at the Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake, where the performers will spend three days in final preparation and rehearsal for the Dec. 7 performance.

The All State concert, involving orchestra, band and chorus are a featured presentation of the New York State School Music Association. Each fall auditions are held throughout the state, on the basis of which final selection of performers is made. The students picked by the audition board, soon receive the music which is to be performed at the annual concert.

Miss Sherwig was one of many students from the upper two grades of high school in the state who tried out for All State this fall. On the basis of her audition she was selected to participate in the annual concert. She will be accompanied by Paul N. Steiner and Mrs. George Bond, music teachers in the Central School and active members of the New York State School Music Association.

She is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. John H. Sherwig. Her music instructor is Claude Montoux, teacher at Vassar and Peabody and director of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

Holy Day Schedule
At St. Joseph's Church at New Paltz the Feast of the Immaculate Conception of Our Blessed Mother, will be held Thursday, December 8th. All Catholics are obliged to attend Holy Mass on this day. There will be Masses at 6:30, 8 and 9 a. m. as well as 5:30 and 6:30 p. m.

Confessions in preparation for the feast will be heard from 4 to 5:30 p. m. and 7:30 to 9 p. m. on Tuesday, Dec. 7.

The annual Christmas candle-light service will be held at the church on Sunday, Dec. 12 at the vesper hour of 5. Dr. Robert Strothman, senior choir director, has planned a well-balanced program of carols, old and new. The program will be announced next week.

U.S. Jury Will Probe Gambling In Western N.Y.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Organized gambling in Western New York will come under the scrutiny of a Federal Grand Jury next week.

No official announcement has been made of the grand jury probe because federal officials are prohibited from discussing their activities of a federal grand jury.

U.S. Attorney John T. Curtin of Buffalo, however, confirmed Friday that a "large number" of subpoenas had been issued for witnesses.

"We don't consider this anything special," said Curtin. "We haven't taken any testimony yet, so we have nothing to say about it."

However, the FBI said it had been serving subpoenas since Nov. 24 and that 75 summonses for witnesses had been issued by Curtin's office.

Sources indicated that the grand jury probe was aimed at determining the scope of gambling activities in Western New York, including Buffalo, Rochester and Niagara Falls.

NASA Drops BVD Journey

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) —

The space agency, in a cautious change of plans, has decided to have the Gemini 7 astronauts spend most of their 14-day celestial voyage in nothing but underwear.

Both Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. may still get the opportunity to doff their space suits, but not for long and not at the same time.

The current plan, announced by flight officials, is to allow Lovell, the pilot, to remove his suit shortly after the Gemini 7 spacecraft settles into orbit and gets a "go" for one full day in space. If all goes well the Gemini space twins would alternate sleeping time outside their suits.

Borman said at a news conference Nov. 1 that he and Lovell planned to remove their suits "and fly in a shirt-sleeve environment for up to, we hope, 10 days."

However, George E. Mueller, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's associate administrator for manned spaceflight, said Friday that Lovell's initial stay outside the suit would be "on the order of a day."

We have just deemed it in the interest of safety to have one man in a condition where he retains the suit on so that in the case of any unforeseen emergency one man would be in a relatively safe position," he added.

"Both astronauts will be suited during all critical phases of the mission—that is, during the liftoff, during the rendezvous and during the re-entry," Mueller said.

The Gemini 7 crewmen originally requested they be allowed to fly the mission with no space suits at all. Three Soviet cosmonauts reportedly wore street clothes from launch to splash-down on the 16-orbit Voskhod 1 flight last year.

Astronauts have complained that the conventional Gemini suit is too bulky, cumbersome and uncomfortable.

To Head Park Study

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Eric H. Faigle, vice president of Syracuse University, will head a 17-member Old Erie Canal Park study committee.

He was named to the post Friday by Gov. Rockefeller, who last month created the group to study the feasibility of developing recreational areas along a 35-mile section of the canal in Onondaga and Oneida counties.

ley, a son, Harold V. Watrous of Albany. Three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Monday at 10 a. m. where Pastor Richard Mitchell of the Seventh Day Adventist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday 2-4 and 7-9 p.m.

A motorist was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated and three other persons were injured in three separate traffic accidents Friday afternoon in the city.

Arrested after a two-car accident about 6 p. m. at Foxhall Avenue and Stephen Street was Jose Hernandez, 38, of 12 Wiltwyck Avenue. He was jailed in lieu of $500 bail for his appearance later in City Court.

Police said that Marjorie M. Misasi, 38, of 225 Flatbush Avenue, was driving north on Foxhall when her vehicle was struck in the rear by a car operated by Hernandez. She was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of contusions of the knee and lower leg.

Patrolman Curtis Vandemark investigated.

Therman Breunson, of Wurts Street, suffered a left leg injury when he was pinned between two cars while trying to help get a stalled car started at East Chester Street and Flatbush Avenue. He was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

Police said that a car operated by Kenneth Adin, 35, of 28 Chambers Street had a dead battery and another vehicle driven by James C. Priest, 44, of 6 Home Street, pulled in front to give assistance. They said that the Adin vehicle was started with battery cables and as Breunson went between the cars to remove the cables, the Adin vehicle rolled forward, pinning Breunson between the two vehicles.

Patrolman Raymond Wells investigated.

Margaret Bigler, 68, of 85 West Union Street suffered knee and hip injuries when she was struck by a car at Broadway and Dederick Street. She was taken to Kingston Hospital for X-rays.

Woman Is Struck
Police said that a car operated by George M. Anderopoulos, 72, of 37 Wall Street, was traveling north on Broadway when it struck the woman pedestrian who was crossing the street near 525 Broadway.

Patrolman Thomas Coffey investigated.

4-Car Circle Crash
Four persons were injured and a Poughkeepsie youth was cited for drunken driving as the result of a four-car collision at 10:30 p. m. Friday on Route 44-55 about 1.2 miles east of the Highland traffic circle.

Toohey Edward Pulver reported the cars were driven by Jeffrey Parisi, 18, of 25 Edgar Street, Poughkeepsie; Robert L. Darcy, 24, of 13 Water Street; Benjamin Blau, 64, of 128 College Avenue, Poughkeepsie; and Thomas Steigerwald, 24, of Julia Lane, Beacon.

Toohey Jack Ostmark cited Parisi on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, according to Toohey J. F. Czaplinski. Parisi complained of abdominal pains, toohey said.

Steigerwald received bruises of the knees and a bump on the head. Linda Steigerwald, 20, complained of pains in the side, and John Steigerwald sustained a bump on the head.

Held for Hearing
Toohey Ostmark reported Parisi was driving west on Route 44-55, Darcy was attempting to pass when his car skidded and the four vehicles were involved in a crash.

Parisi was held in $200 bail pending a hearing later today.

Two persons were injured and a motorist was cited by Highland State Police after two cars were involved in a collision on Route 44-55 about one-tenth of a mile east of the Highland traffic circle.

The mishap at 10 p. m. Friday involved cars driven by Frances Williams, 37, of River Road, Highland, and William Carroll, 35, of 21 Oak Drive, Middletown. Carroll was cited by Trooper Robert Whalen on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Martha Cummings, 19, of 116 Church Street, Poughkeepsie, a passenger in the Williams car, and Robert Carroll, 20, of Middletown, both received minor injuries of the forehead. Trooper Edward Pulver said the Williams car was traveling east negotiating a left curve and Carroll was driving in the opposite direction at the time of the collision.

Carroll was summoned to appear before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus, on the charge.

Dutchess Driver Cited
Highland State Police early today cited Girard Moccia, 20, of 364 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Bail was fixed at $200 and hearing was adjourned until Monday before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus.

According to Trooper J. F. Czaplinski, Sheldon Dickerson, 25, of 319 Violet Avenue, Poughkeepsie, was driving south on Route 9W at the Highland traffic circle at about 3:30 a. m. today, when a car driven by Moccia attempted to pass and the vehicles collided. Troopers Pulicki, Parisi complained of abdominal pains, toohey said.

Steigerwald received bruises of the knees and a bump on the head. Linda Steigerwald, 20, complained of pains in the side, and John Steigerwald sustained a bump on the head.

Searchers Find Body of Pilot, Plane Wreckage

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) —

A search party early today located the body of a pilot and the wreckage of his small plane, which crashed Friday night into the side of French Mountain near here.

The dead man was Harry Hilton, about 30, of Glens Falls, the Warren County Sheriff's Office reported.

Fenton West of Lake George told deputies he saw the plane's lights as it headed toward the 1,500-foot-tall mountain and said he saw a "bright flash" as it hit.

A search began Friday night, but the 20-man party of deputies and volunteers was hampered by a slushy mixture of rain, snow and fog. Temperatures were in the 30s overnight.

West pinpointed the plane's impact for the search party on the west side of the mountain near Route 9 between Lake George Village and the hamlet of Warren County Center.

Authorities said Hilton, who was alone, was enroute to Glens Falls from Bedford, Mass. He was the owner of an electronics firm in Glens Falls. The plane was a six seat Cessna 637.

Eye Foreign Study

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —

Some American universities and colleges may be sending students abroad as a way of solving their problem of crowded classrooms and campuses says a college president.

These schools are using the foreign study program "as a means of solving part of the enrollment problem and are dumping" students abroad in already overcrowded foreign universities, in a speech Friday night.

The women's college he heads at Elmira, N.Y., has a foreign study program for coeds in their junior year.

with none of the board members opposing a salary increase but protesting as to the method and the intent of the resolution. It was suggested that an increase could be granted after a study and the increase made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966.

Supervisor John C. Quimby moved to amend the resolution and refer the matter to the Salary Study and Budget Committee. His motion prevailed.

Rapp cautioned the board on salary increases to some employees and not to all after a suggestion had been made that many of the employees were entitled to a raise but some were not. Rapp said the board should be careful of "discrimination."

Peter Savage, (R), New Paltz county, said that a salary increase was due and he cited men working in the county building who get only $2,880 a year salary. He said it was the "little man" who deserved to get more salary.

Supervisor Roger Mabie (D), Esopus, said he was not against salary increases to county employees who were entitled to it and he was sure none of the board members were, but like others, he urged a study and report by the proper committee.

Rapp countered that the 15 per cent increase could be given now and a study would disclose whether or not that increase was sufficient.

Sees $60 - $80,000 Cost

Douglas Dye, (R), Kingston, said he favored raises to those deserving more pay but he said some of the employees were not worth the salary paid.

Rapp referring to the cost and the fact that a salary increase would "upset" the present tentative budget, said the cost probably would not be more than $60,000 to $80,000.

A number of other supervisors spoke in favor of increases to county employees but several maintained the matter should come from the Salary Study Committee, not from a single member.

Relyea Acting Chairman
In the absence of Chairman Robert Phinney, who is hospitalized with a fracture of the ankle, Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley acted as chairman.

Between 50 and 60 letters were received and filed objecting to the construction of an alternate seat of government shelter on the county office building premises. Bids were recently received for such a structure but the board has not acted on them. The letters were referred to the Civil Defense Committee and are available to board members.

Douglas Dye, (R), Kingston town, called attention to the fact that the board had taken no action on the construction program. It was also noted that 75 per cent of the cost of the alternate seat of government recommended by Civil Defense, would be born by federal or state funds and that the cost of such a structure would cost local taxpayers only 25 per cent of the cost.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward, chairman of the Industrial Development Committee, reported that an application by the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad for closing the Pine Bush line in southern Ulster, known as the Pine Bush Branch, had been withdrawn. The board some time ago voted opposition to the proposed abandonment.

A report by the Salary Study Committee recommended increase in mileage payments from 9 to 10 cents per mile and also that county employees be given a half day off the day prior to Christmas.

Study Facilities
Supervisor Dye, (R), Kingston, chairman of the Public Welfare Committee, reported on cost of occupancy of beds in the county hospital and said a study of the use of the TB hospital facilities as an infirmary was being continued.

The high accident rate on the recently completed Route 299 between New Paltz and Highland came up for attention. Supervisors Joseph Martorana (R), Plattekill, Supervisor Henry Wezenaar, (D), Lloyd, and Supervisor Peter Savage, (R), New Paltz offered a resolution suggesting the State Police Department consider making the route a four-lane divided highway and plan a new intersection with Route 9W at Highland.

It was pointed out that since the highway had been completed a few years ago as a 2-lane-highway, more than 100 accidents had taken place, many at the 9-W intersection. Only on Thanksgiving Day was a head-on collision taking the lives of three and injury to others. The resolution noted that the route is an important link between 9-W and the Thruway and serves a large number of passenger and commercial vehicles.

The board unanimously approved the resolution.

A resolution seeking to authorize members of the Planning Commission to make field trips to secure information prior to preparation of a real property map of the county, was referred to the Industrial Development Committee by a vote of 22 to 6. It was suggested that a member of the County Assessors Association also make the trip.

A resolution by Supervisor George Majestic (D) Gardner, calling for the board's recommendation that the Galeville Airport be considered as a site for an Atomic Energy development site was unanimously carried.

Various routine resolutions were approved.

Aldrich to Talk
Alexander Aldrich, Columbia County resident who is being mentioned as a possible candidate for Member of Congress, will be a speaker at the monthly meeting of the Town of Rochester Republican Club Tuesday, Dec. 7. The meeting will be held at the Accord Grange Hall on Route 209 at Accord.

Two Hurt Near Cottekill
Two persons were injured in a one-car accident on the Lucas Turnpike about 2 1/2 miles south of the Cottekill Road in the Town of Rosendale.

Sheriff's deputies said that Hazel Davis, 43, of Box 65, Hurley, said that her car's windshield wiper failed to operate properly while driving in rain, and the vehicle failed to make a turn. Deputies said the woman's car ran off the road and struck a guard rail.

Mrs. Davis suffered head and knee injuries. Deputies said her daughter Debra, 7, a passenger in the vehicle, suffered head and right knee injuries.

Deputies Henry Polhemus and Ernest Ahlberg investigated.

Collide Near Store
One motorist was injured and another was issued a summons when their vehicles collided on Route 28 near the Big Scot store.

State Police at the Lake Katrine substation said that George W. Sparling, 42, of Route 3, Box 262A, Kingston, was driving east on Rt. 28 and making a left turn northerly near the store when it was in collision with a car driven west by Alice Tiano, 49, of 125 First Avenue, Kingston. Troopers said Mrs. Tiano suffered a sprained back and right knee and shoulder injuries. They issued Sparling a citation for failure to yield right of way, returnable before Peace Justice Robert Stedje, Town of Ulster.

Trooper C. J. Benessee investigated.

A Kerhonkson motorist was cited for a traffic violation after a one-car accident about 4:30 a. m. today on Route 209 near the intersection of Rt. 44-53, Kerhonkson.

State Police at the Ellenville substation said that Richard Millson, 21, of Kerhonkson, was driving north on Rt. 209 when he fell asleep. They said his car went off the left side of the road and ran into a ditch. Millson was issued a summons for failure to keep right, returnable before Peace Justice Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

Trooper R. R. Brooks investigated.

Flames Destroy Glasco Building
Fire of undetermined origin Friday night gutted a two-story frame dwelling-business building on Glasco's Main Street, and forced occupants of a second floor apartment to flee, according to Fire Chief Peter Cafaldo.

The chief said a tenant heard an explosion shortly before 9 p. m. and occupants of the apartment made their way to safety. The ground floor of the building was formerly occupied by a store and a tavern, but those areas had been vacant for some time, fire officials reported.

The alarm was sounded at 8:54 p. m. and moments later a fire was summoned from Ulster Hose Co. 5 and C. A. Lynch Co. of Saugerties. Two hydrants were not operative and pumps from the latter two companies moved to the Hudson River and pumped water to the burning building.

Chief Cafaldo said the apartment was occupied by Pat Anadol and family. No injuries were reported.

Repairs were being made today to the two hydrants.

Destroyer's Guns Blast
There were no reports of casualties on either side. A U.S. Navy destroyer lent support with its five-inch guns.

In the Mekong Delta, an outpost 80 miles south of Saigon also came under heavy Viet Cong attack.

Government casualties were reported to be moderate. Three Viet Cong were killed.

U.S. Navy Seabees were clearing the rubble left by the blast at the Metropole Hotel.

Ordnance disposal men believed that the terrorists exploded a 250-pound device.

The blast came after an unknown number of Viet Cong opened fire with machine guns on U.S. military police and guards and Vietnamese police.

The terrorists then drove a truck loaded with the explosive to the front door and detonated it. They escaped in the darkness.

Hotel Is Damaged
The blast shattered the facade of the hotel and blew out the fronts of other nearby buildings. The hotel did not collapse.

The explosion has been compared to the blasts that wrecked the U.S. Embassy and Saigon police headquarters earlier this year.

Police, 4 William Seippel, a military policeman, was on duty at the Metropole's front door. He and Vietnamese guards

MAKE COSMETICS YOUR ALLIES

To the modern generation, it must seem fantastic that not so very long ago all make-up was considered wicked. Today the only restraint in the use of every item in the cosmetic catalog lies in the answer to the question: Are you sure you are not exchanging a face for a mask?

Except for special occasions, a little powder to dull the shine on your nose, a touch of rouge sparingly applied if you are pale, lipstick of a color becoming to your complexion, a touch of eye make-up if you live in the city, and a neatly combed hair-do are sufficient to make every woman appear well groomed. A good powder base, which contains nutrients for the skin, is an excellent idea for older women. The powder should be applied lightly and evenly over the base, and when properly done, the two together will cover the natural blemishes and wrinkles that come inevitably with the years. This, however, is not necessary for a young girl whose skin is loveliness itself.

Eye make-up, if used should also be applied with discretion. A heavy outline intended to enlarge the eye can, in reality, destroy the natural line and appear nothing short of grotesque.

Lipstick should follow the line of the lips. An attempt to enlarge or change the shape of the mouth by running the lipstick over the natural outline of the lips generally gives the appearance that your hand has slipped.

Hair-dos should be chosen to flatter your face, not to follow the latest fad. Of course, if you are young and pretty, many styles will be becoming, and it is great fun to attempt different effects and to experiment with current fashions. It is not worth doing, however, if the latest thing could be harmful to the hair, such as spraying with excessively drying lacquers. The well-groomed woman finds a style that is pleasing to her and not difficult to maintain, and while she may vary her coiffure on special occasions, she returns to the simple, becoming style for ordinary dress.

And always remember that a mask can never take the place of a face. The face of a clown is grotesque, for it is meant to be. If cosmetics are to add to beauty, they must be the allies, not the enemies, of nature.

THE HISTORY OF CHRISTMAS CUSTOMS

Christmas is described in song as the season to be merry. It's also a season steeped with rich traditions—some of which evolved from customs practiced before the birth of Christ.

The use of greenery at Christmas, for instance, grew out of ancient Roman and Greek customs. Romans made lavish use of green boughs and garlands to honor Saturn, their god of agriculture. Greeks awarded laurel wreaths to victorious athletes.

Holly was a favorite Roman decoration. The Druids of ancient England thought it sacred. Mistletoe was regarded as a charm against evil in Greek mythology. It was a symbol of hope and peace to the Romans. The Druids believed it had healing powers. The Norse considered it to be sacred and a symbol of love.

It was in heavily-forested northern Europe that the Christmas tree custom was begun by St. Boniface, an eighth century monk. He converted the pagans living in what is now Germany, and ended their human sacrifices to Odin's sacred oak. He convinced the people instead to adorn fir trees in their homes in tribute to the Christ Child.

Although Christ's birthday was celebrated on various dates as early as the third century, its observance wasn't sanctioned officially until a century later. Until then, Church fathers withheld their blessing because they feared the occasion would be tied in with pagan festivals.

Finally, to satisfy growing Christian desire, Pope Julius I authorized an investigation to determine Christ's probable birthdate. This led to the selection of Dec. 25. On that date in 353 A.D., the feast of the Nativity was first observed in Rome.

Exchanging Christmas cards is a fairly recent custom. It began in England in the 1840's—the exact date is in dispute. The first sender also is a source of argument. At least four persons, including a 16-year-old artist, are credited with being first.

Christmas cards were introduced in the U.S. by Louis Prang, a German immigrant who settled in Roxbury, Mass. Known as the "father of the American Christmas card," Prang printed his first one in 1873. By 1881, he was turning out five million yule cards a year.

It was in the 1870's that nostalgic winter scenes by the famed Currier and Ives became highly popular as Christmas card illustrations. Even today, Currier and Ives Christmas cards are perennial best sellers, according to greeting card firms. One business organization alone, Nationwide Mutual Insurance of Columbus, Ohio, sends out 200,000 Currier and Ives Christmas cards each year.

The No. 1 Christmas favorite of children, of course, is jolly, old Santa Claus. The original Santa Claus was St. Nicholas, a fourth century bishop famous in his lifetime for his generosity, especially to children.

Legend has it that St. Nicholas secretly tossed bags of gold into the home of three dowry-less girls when they reached marriageable age. On one of these missions, the bag fell into a stocking hung near the chimney to dry. And so began the custom of hanging stockings on Christmas Eve.

"St. Nick," who lived in Asia Minor, became the patron saint of children in several countries, including Greece, Holland, Russia, and Belgium. As his fame spread to Scandinavia, he picked up his reindeer and sleigh.

Santa's rosy cheeks, white beard, and portly frame came from the pen of Dr. Clement Moore of New York who immortalized him in his 1822 poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas." This poem starts with the famous line, "Twas the night before Christmas...."

Famed cartoonist Thomas Nast popularized Santa Claus even more in 1863 by picturing him in a bright red, fur-trimmed suit.

The use of poinsettias as Christmas decorations isn't old as customs go. Dr. Joel Poinsett of Charleston, S.C., after whom the flower is named, introduced the plant to the U.S. in 1828. In Mexico and Central America, where the flower apparently originated, it was known as the "Flower of the Holy Night."

One of the most revered Christmas customs is the re-enactment of Christ's birth with a crèche, or crib scene. Although started several hundred years earlier, the custom wasn't popularized until the 13th century by St. Francis of Assisi.

At that time, there were few books available and most people couldn't read anyway. To give an understanding portrayal of Christmas, St. Francis dramatized the Nativity in 1224 at Greccio, Italy. Villagers took parts of Mary, Joseph, and the shepherds. Live animals were used. A life-sized wax figure of the Christ Child was placed in the manger. The living crèche attracted large crowds from nearby and distant areas.

And, as the pilgrims stood about admiring the scene, St. Francis led them in joyous songs written in the vernacular. Thus was born another great and popular custom—Christmas caroling.

Diabetic Service May Be Organized In Kingston Area

The Mid-Hudson Dietetic Association held its December meeting last night at Vassar College. Dr. Leon Levitt and Alfred Nichols of the New York Diabetes Association discussed the formation of a local lay diabetes association. The purpose of such a group would be to provide information of a local lay diabetes betics and their families in this area and to disseminate information about diabetes to the community. The association would include doctors, dietitians, allied medical professional people, diabetics, their families and other interested people. Local physicians who are members of the Clinical Group of the Diabetes Association would serve as advisors and the New York Diabetes Association would act as the parent agency. A smaller group of diabetic association members who are interested will meet again to make more definite plans for the organization.

Dr. Levitt described some of the functions now carried on by the New York Diabetes Assoc., one of the most important being Camp Nyda located at Burlington, N. Y. This is a camp set up to provide to Diabetic children the same summer camp experiences as non-diabetic children get at any summer camp. It is open to children from 6 to 16, more information is available by writing to the New York Diabetes Association, care of Camp Director, 104 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y. 10016. The diabetic children are taught to live with their disorder. Medical, nursing and counseling services are available at the camp.

The New York Diabetes Association also promotes Diabetes Detection Week. Their Insurance and Employment Committee sets forth standards for the employment of diabetics and provides information to diabetics about insurance. The Association has available many publications of value to diabetics.

According to Dr. Levitt, there is 24 million known diabetics in this country and another estimated 1.6 million unknown diabetics. Of these 30,000 are juvenile diabetics. In Orange, Dutchess and Ulster counties, there are 5750 known and an estimated 4000 unknown diabetics.

At the business meeting afterwards, Mrs. Leon Koniz reported that during diabetes detection week, 502 people received the blood tests at the Armory and 343 people were tested at area hospitals—Highland Hospital in Beacon, St. Francis and Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Hilda Brett reported that 239 tests were done at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston and 1106 tests were done at Kingston industrial plants.

Two physicians active in Diabetes Detection Week also attended the meeting: Dr. Ann Wright of Poughkeepsie and Dr. Curtis Bight of Kingston.

The next meeting of the Mid-Hudson Dietetic Association will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 5 at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Jewish Center Is Again Planning Winter Day Camp

The fourth annual Winter Day Camp for boys and girls between Kindergarten and Sixth Grade has been scheduled by the Kingston Jewish Community Center for Dec. 27, 28 and 30 according to Center President Sam Berger.

Special events for the Winter Day Campers will include bowling, movies, sledding, ice skating, a Winter Carnival and an outdoor cookout. During each day, the campers also will participate in arts and crafts, dramatics, music and singing, game room skills, indoor athletics and girls will have social dancing instruction.

Ronald Cole, a member of the Physical Education Staff of the Kingston Consolidated Schools, will act as Winter Camp director. Cole directed the winter camp last year, and for the past four summers has been head counselor of the Center's Camp Jay Coe Coe. Cole will be assisted by Duan Bullock, of the Saugerties School System, and counselors will be students from the Ulster County Community College who are currently club leaders and specialists at the Jewish Community Center under the work-study program.

A special chartered bus will pick-up and deliver the winter day campers throughout the city. Early registration for this activity is urged at the Jewish Community Center Office, 96 Maiden Lane in order that adequate preparation may be made for the proper number of campers.

This special activity is made possible through the Center's participation in the Ulster County Community Chest.

Edna L. Kessler Exhibits Paintings In Foundation Show

A former resident of Kingston will be among those to display paintings at the IBM Country Club Art Gallery in Poughkeepsie today through Dec. 31. The artist is Edna Leventhal Kessler of 85-89 Chevy Chase Street, Jamaica Estates, 32, New York, a native of Kingston and daughter of the late Max Leventhal.

At the invitation of IBM, the Frederick Thompson Foundation of 205-04 11th Avenue, Hollis, is sponsoring an exhibition of selected contemporary paintings at the Poughkeepsie IBM Country Club Art Gallery.

Dr. Morey R. Fields, assistant dean, School of Education, New York University and president of the Frederick Thompson Foundation announced that work of the following artists will be shown:

Mrs. Edna Leventhal Kessler, Amanda Van Der Voort, Anette Leeds, Helen Slottman, Ellen Botts, Florence Whitehill, Patricia Ann Bott, Margaret Fernald Dole, Sara Boal, Marcia Howe, Caroline Van Evers and Helen McVickar, who is a resident of 5 Platt Avenue, Rhinebeck.

The Gallery is open to the public without charge Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Sundays from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Edna L. Kessler is a graduate of the Parson School of Design in New York and a former teacher at the art center. She has received national recognition for her paintings in art shows throughout the country. One of her outstanding paintings is "Flowers." Many of her works of art have taken first prize at exhibits in New York, Long Island and at shows throughout the country.

The Frederick Thompson Foundation was established in 1956 to stimulate in lay people a sense of appreciation for art generally, and particularly, in the art of painting. Special exhibitions featuring the works of individuals or groups of contemporary painters are arranged by the Foundation on a non-profit basis. A permanent exhibition of the late Frederick Thompson's work is maintained at Foundation Headquarters in Hollis, L. I. and paintings from this collection are available on loan to educational and cultural groups. The Foundation sponsors art classes in New York City under the direction of Florence Whithill. Educational programs consisting of art color slides and taped narratives are available on request for educational and cultural groups.

Mothers' Club Yule Party

At a regular meeting of the Mothers' Club of Immaculate Conception School, final plans were made for the annual Christmas party.

It will be held on Dec. 9 at 7:30 p. m. in Rainbow Inn, Route 9W. Guests are invited. Reservations should be made by Dec. 6. There will be an exchange of gifts.

LWV to Sponsor Report on ICY Meeting Monday

The League of Women Voters of New Paltz, Kingston, Saugerties and Woodstock urges area residents to hear Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick and Dr. William Haggerty, president of State College of New Paltz report on the White House Conference for International Cooperation Year in which they recently participated. Climaxing a year of celebration designated International Cooperation Year by the United Nations General Assembly, the conference was called by President Johnson for the purpose of exploring every avenue for peace and cooperation between nations.

During this year, the twentieth anniversary of the United Nations, special emphasis was placed on those examples around the world where nations have worked together for mutual help.

Groups and individuals may participate in the observance of International Cooperation Year by joining the League of Women Voters and its guest speakers Monday, Dec. 6 at 8 p. m. at the Benedictine Nurses Residence. Albert Tannin, United Nations chairman may be contacted for details.

Teen Film Group To Meet Tuesdays, 7:30 at Library

The Teen Film Review Board held its first organizational meeting at the Kingston Library this week and previewed the CBS documentary on the Hungarian Revolution. It was decided to change the regular meeting time to 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday to permit more teenagers to attend.

The Film Board is composed of teenagers from area schools who select films for their viewing and discussion from more than 7,500 free films available from Kingston Library. All teenagers are cordially invited to attend the sessions, which are held in the second floor film viewing room at the Kingston Lions Children's Library.

Among the films available are feature length productions, documentaries, award-winning shorter works, classics, as well as educational films on a variety of subjects employing various techniques of photography and animation. The Board was established for the purpose of permitting teenagers to gain an appreciation of this important medium.

Ulster Community Cagers Debut With 85-58 Decision

Senators Rip Fashion Squad At Auditorium

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Dazzling one of the largest crowds in the history of the Municipal Auditorium, Ulster County Community College cagers make Mike Perry's coaching debut a smashing success Friday night with a lopsided, 85-58, triumph over a stunned Fashion Institute club of New York City.

With co-captains Paul (Boots) Butkins and George Druttman picking the visitors apart with their passing and shooting, the fired-up Senators jumped to an 11-0 lead in the first six minutes of play and simply buried the visitors with an excellent combination of offensive and defensive basketball.

The two veterans were aided by Cliff Schoonmaker, Brad Meyer and Bruce Ackert as they moved to a fantastic, 41-15, half-time lead and were never threatened in the second half.

Druttman Starts It

From the time Druttman connected with a three-point play in the opening seconds until the final play, the Senators were simply too much for the New York squad to handle.

After Druttman's opening salvo, Butkins scored with a pair of driving layups, Ackert connected with a foul line jumper, Druttman hit from underneath and it was 11-0 before Joe Heffernan scored for the losers.

Then, in rapid order, Butkins drilled in a long one from the left side, Druttman tallied after taking passes from Ackert and Butkins, and Schoonmaker tapped in a rebound. It was all over after that flurry.

So one-sided was the game, that Fashion Institute had only five buckets at halftime. The tenacious UCCS defense wouldn't let the losers get inside and their shooting from outside was well off the mark.

Butkins, scoring from in close, finished with 11 baskets and five foul shots for 27 points. Druttman, deadly from either corner, had 25 markers. Ackert added 13. Schoonmaker and Meyer took complete control of the boards and set up the others for the fast break.

Ulster was scheduled for an afternoon game today at Marist and returns to the Auditorium next Wednesday night for a contest against Sullivan Community College. The crowd won't be as large, but maybe the results will remain the same.

Globetrotters Win, 80-50

Record Crowd At Auditorium Watches Action

Despite their 39 plus season of entertaining, the famous Harlem Globetrotters can still pack them in. Before what is probably the largest crowd ever to watch a cage event in Kingston, the Trotters easily beat the New York Nationals, 80-50, before more than 2,000 last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

The SRO sign went up early for this one and by the time the first game between UCCS and Fashion Institute had ended, the auditorium was splitting at the rafters. Many prospective ticket buyers were turned away at the door.

As to the game itself, the Trotters had little trouble with their traveling opponents. They spiced the win with some funny basketball and the huge crowd loved it.

Prior to the main contest, several acts of vaudeville were presented. Others were given at halftime.

Showboat Hall gave the capacity plus crowd samples of his court antics. Hall wasn't only funny, but good as well. He scored 18 points.

Jim Gaines, hitting mostly from outside, scored 24 points. Murphy Summons, the Trotters' newest dribbling sensation, had 10 points and handled the basketball like a toy.

It wasn't much of a game, but the crowd didn't expect it to be close. The spectators came to see the show and the renowned Globetrotters didn't disappoint them.

SAN JOSE, Calif. — Alex Benitez, 126, San Jose, outpointed Mayico Robles, 122 1/2, Mexico City, 10.

A San Diego victory over New York, combined with a Denver victory at Oakland, will clinch the Western Division title for the Chargers and send them into the Dec. 26 AFL championship game against the Eastern Division champion Buffalo Bills.

Cleveland won the NFL championship last year by beating Baltimore 27-0 and Buffalo won the AFL championship by defeating San Diego 20-7.

The San Diego-New York game kicks off the full weekend of activity Saturday and will be nationally televised by NBC starting at 4:30 p.m., EST.

The Denver-Pakistan and Buffalo at Houston games are scheduled for Sunday.

Sands Gets 30 As Hawks Lose In Late Stages

Despite a superlative 30-point effort by Tyrone Sands, former Monticello High star, the Hawks of New Paltz State dropped a pulsating, 79-76, verdict to C. W. Post last night at Elting Gymnasium.

Coach Doug Sheppard's youthful aggregation had a 14-point lead, 46-32, at halftime but lost the margin and the game in the last three minutes of play.

Tito Aides brought coach George Kaftan's club even for the first time when he made two free throws at the 3:11 mark. This knotted the score at 66.

The First Lead

A pair of charity tosses by Al Berlowitz shoved Post in front, 76-74, with 49 seconds remaining. This was the first lead for the winners and they never lost it.

Mike Levine's foul shot increased the margin to 77-74 before Sands connected for the Hawks. However, Ron Torrence hit just before the buzzer to clinch the verdict.

Sands had eight buckets and 14 foul shots for the Hawks. Ed Shuster, Rich Spooner and Pete Brenner were also in double figures. Levine's 24 markers topped Post, which has won two straight.

The State U. cagers will try to reach the 500 mark tonight when they travel to Danbury State. New Paltz returns home next Wednesday for a game against Marist College of Poughkeepsie.

Beacon Wallops AHS, 109-83

Though they walloped Arlington, 109-83, in their opener, the Beacon Bulldogs are going through a rebuilding year. Coach Dick DiBasso has Gary McGraw, last year's MVP in the DCSL and Ty Quill, a solid backcourt performer back. However, he lacks the good big man.

Others on the varsity are Lou Jackson, Bill Peralta, Sam Patterson, Steve Quill, Julian Gromko, Gerome Tucker, Mark Giordano, Ed Valentine, John Moore and Nate Milligan.

Pro Grid Leagues Schedule Heavy Weekend of Activity

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

It will take a combination of eight teams pulling off a massive quadruple play. But by Sunday night the National and American football leagues could find themselves with championship games that are carbon copies of last year's title battles.

The situation in the NFL is this: A Baltimore victory over Chicago, combined with a Minnesota triumph at Green Bay, will clinch the Western Division title for the Colts and send them into the Jan. 2 NFL championship game against the Eastern Division champion Cleveland Browns.

The situation in the AFL is this: A San Diego victory over New York, combined with a Denver victory at Oakland, will clinch the Western Division title for the Chargers and send them into the Dec. 26 AFL championship game against the Eastern Division champion Buffalo Bills.

Cleveland won the NFL championship last year by beating Baltimore 27-0 and Buffalo won the AFL championship by defeating San Diego 20-7.

The San Diego-New York game kicks off the full weekend of activity Saturday and will be nationally televised by NBC starting at 4:30 p.m., EST.

The Denver-Pakistan and Buffalo at Houston games are scheduled for Sunday.

No Drastic Changes Are Made As Baseball Meetings End

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Big league baseball in 1966 should be just about like it was in 1965.

No drastic changes in the game were made during a week of minor and major league meetings, and no big name players were traded.

The American and National leagues did crack down on fraternization on the field by opposing players, and baseball executives met the new commissioner, Gen. William Eckert. The retired air force officer replacing retiring Ford Frick, who at the final session of the major league meetings Friday said "I'm leaving with a lump in my throat."

Eckert, who says he will not be a "puppet commissioner," emphasized throughout the week that as a military man with no baseball experience he does not plan to recommend any immediate changes.

In a joint meeting, the American and National League owners awarded the 1967 All-Star game to Anaheim, Calif., home of the Angels. The 1966 game earlier was given to the St. Louis Cardinals.

To Meet in Pittsburgh
The owners voted to meet next year at Pittsburgh, Pa., with the minor league meeting scheduled for Columbus, Ohio. Both leagues also agreed to cut from 30 to 15 days the length of time a player on the disabled list must remain out of action.

American League owners hiked the fine for player fraternization from $5 to $50, and the National League boosted the fine from $10 to a minimum of $25.

The American League took under advisement a request by Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club, Inc., for a major league franchise in Milwaukee, Wis., which lost the Braves to Atlanta, Ga. The National League Thursday rejected requests for 1966 franchises in Milwaukee and Dallas-Fort Worth, Tex.

Probably the biggest trade of the week was a four-player swap that sent the Chicago Cubs' relief ace Lindy McDaniel and outfielder Don Landrum to the San Francisco Giants in exchange for a pair of youngsters, pitcher Bill Hands and catcher Randy Hundley.

Thirteen separate transactions took place during the week, with 24 major league players changing clubs.

Richman Dies While Club Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The 76ers won one for Ike Fickel night in the National Basketball Association.

Isaac (Ike) Richman, co-owner of the Philadelphia 76ers, collapsed and died on the bench in Boston while watching his team play the champion Celtics.

The score was tied 13-13 when Richman slumped over. When play resumed Big Wilt Chamberlain, whom Richman had signed to a $100,000 contract before the season opened, led a drive that brought the 76ers a 119-103 victory. It was the first home defeat of the season for the Celtics after nine victories.

Chamberlain scored 28 points altogether while Hal Greer added 27 for the 76ers. John Havlicek also got 28 for the Celtics. Jerry West scored 51 points for the Los Angeles Lakers, but Oscar Robertson's 48 points for Cincinnati brought the Royals a 122-118 victory in the only other game scheduled.

The victory at Los Angeles put the Royals only percentage points behind first place Boston in the Eastern Division.

Three games are scheduled tonight with Boston at St. Louis, Baltimore at Detroit and Philadelphia at New York. The scheduled Sunday game, New York at Philadelphia was postponed because of Richman's death.

Star Is Dropped

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Half-back George Youngblood, future draft pick of the Los Angeles Rams, has been dropped from the Cal State Los Angeles football team.

Coach Homer Beatty said Friday Youngblood was dismissed at a mid-week practice for an unspecified training violation. He indicated, however, that the rangy junior could get back next year.

UCLA Rips Buckeyes In Opener

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Wooden, coach of the UCLA Bruins, was "concerned" about his national collegiate basketball champions before their opening game of the new season against Ohio State Friday night.

It developed Johnny didn't have to fret. Led by sophomore Mike Warren from South Bend, Ind., the Bruins overwhelmed the dangerous Buckeyes from the Big Ten, 92-66, before 11,781 at the new Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles.

A week ago the UCLA frosh whipped the varsity in an exhibition, but against the Buckeyes the Bruins displayed the poise and running tactics that brought them two straight NCAA titles.

Warren's sharp passing and pinpoint shooting paced the Bruins as they broke the game wide open with their fast break after leading by only 35-32 at halftime.

Warren again set up easy baskets for his teammates and scored 23 points himself, although Mike Lynn was high for UCLA with 28. Dale Hoskat topped the Buckeyes with 24.

Tonight UCLA entertains another Big Ten team, Illinois, which took a 109-88 pasting from Brigham Young at Provo, Utah in one of the other major games on Friday's comparatively slim program.

Led by Don Freeman and Rich Jones, each of whom scored 34 points, the Illinois led the WAC champions 52-48 early in the second half before the Cougars came on. Dick Nemelka led BYU with 35 points.

Butler Rallies
Butler came from seven points back to beat Southern California 77-75 at Indianapolis on field goals by Ed Schilling and Bill Brown in the last 58 seconds.

Schilling was high for Butler with 21 while John Block got 23 for the Trojans.

Colorado State University and Wyoming won the first round games in the Mile High Classic at Denver, the first of the major holiday tournaments.

CSU edged Denver 64-61 and Wyoming downed the Air Force 74-66 behind Leon Clark's 32 points.

In other games San Francisco topped California 78-62, Washington edged Oregon State 45-44, Seattle defeated Utah State 85-81, Washington State humbled Gonzaga 106-78, Creighton defeated St. Francis, Pa., 84-69, Fordham overcame Navy 57-53, Georgia went overtime to conquer Texas Christian 65-75, Brown beat Brandeis 80-72 and Tennessee took the Quanticos Marines 65-56.

With the exception of Vanderbilt, No. 5, all of the Top Ten teams in the pre-season Associated Press poll are in action tonight.

In addition to Illinois at UCLA, No. 1; Bowling Green is at Michigan, No. 2; Clemson is at Duke, No. 3; St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, No. 4, is at Fairfield; Villanova is at Providence, No. 6; Iowa State is at Minnesota, No. 7; Kansas, No. 8, is at Texas Tech; Northern Michigan is at Bradley, No. 9, and Tulsa is at Kansas State, No. 10.

Generally, the morale of the North Vietnamese troops is considered good, their discipline and dedication excellent.

Despite what the military source called a thousand reports of Chinese Communist operations in South Viet Nam, there is no proof of this, according to military circles.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong share a historic aversion to the Chinese and have developed tactics so good they may believe foreign advisers would be superfluous.

All the North Vietnamese troops are north of Saigon and have yet to appear in the fertile Mekong delta. No American troops are in the delta. This suggests that the North Vietnamese regulars are under orders to concentrate on the destruction of American units.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Red Strength . . . New Restaurants have said they moved by truck from Cambodia into the Ia Drang Valley area for the recent battle with the U.S. 1st Cavalry.

Some had Cambodian money, and most described their life as pleasant across the border.

Diplomatic sources say use of Cambodian territory by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong does not necessarily imply collusion with the Cambodian government. On the contrary, many believe, Prince Sihanouk, the Cambodian head of state, is powerless to act short of entering the war.

The North Vietnamese units do not depend on the countryside or captured weapons for their supplies and arms. They are outfitted and well supplied with the latest Communist-bloc weapons, mostly made in Red China.

No Proof on Peking
Generally, the morale of the North Vietnamese troops is considered good, their discipline and dedication excellent.

Despite what the military source called a thousand reports of Chinese Communist operations in South Viet Nam, there is no proof of this, according to military circles.

Commenting on his plan to move, Paul said, "On Broadway there is ample parking space for customers, and another feature will be that the restaurant will be on the ground floor and customers will not have to walk up the long flight of stairs."

Mid-January Possible
No definite dates have been set for moving the two Wall Street restaurants, but the owners expect to move about the middle of January.

Lee Konjas, who operated the Royal Diner on Albany Avenue since 1949, recently opened a new, modern restaurant in the center of the uptown business section at 293 Wall Street. The new restaurant, Premiere Restaurant, is one of the most modern and attractively furnished eating places in that section of Kingston.

Area Phone Firm Will Extend Dial Service on Dec. 5

New York Telephone and the Margaretville Telephone Company will mark the completion Sunday, Dec. 5, of improvement programs for their customers in the Fleischmanns and Margaretville areas.

At 2:01 a.m. on that day:

New York Telephone will introduce local and nationwide dialing to its customers in Fleischmanns. Pine Hill customers who have had local dial service will receive nationwide dialing service.

The Margaretville Telephone Company will introduce nationwide dialing to its customers in Margaretville and Andes. Both communities have had local dial service.

Both companies constructed new central offices to provide the new services.

New York Telephone built an addition to its telephone exchange station at Fleischmanns to house its central office equipment, according to company manager G. Alan Johnson. The office also will serve Pine Hill customers.

The Margaretville Company erected a new central office on Main Street in Andes, replacing an earlier dial office which has been in operation since 1948, according to Keene Roadman, general manager.

"In addition to dialing local calls," the telephone managers said, "customers in all the communities will be able to dial their own station-to-station long distance calls to more than 88 million telephones in the United States and Canada. This service is called Direct Distance Dialing."

Person-to-person, collect and credit card calls and calls charged to a third telephone will continue to be placed through an operator. Long distance operator services for all customers will be centered in Kingston.

Hints for Customers
Johnson and Roadman had some hints for customers about Direct Distance Dialing.

"In placing station-to-station calls outside of the local calling area of the communities, the number '1' is always dialed first," they said.

"The number '1' is a guide to the dial that will tell the central office you want a station-to-station call on the long distance network. Today, almost all telephones in Upstate New York have been equipped for code '1' dialing. It helps prevent accidental dialing of long distance."

"It will sometimes be followed by an area code, and then the number of the telephone you wish to reach."

Check Area Code
"A quick and easy way to check to see if the area code is needed is to look in the front pages of the telephone directory, where a list of area codes for many communities across the nation can be found," they said.

Customers will be asked by the operator for their complete telephone number when placing any long distance call.

Telephone customers in Fleischmanns and Pine Hill will receive new seven-digit telephone numbers in order to bring them the new services. Numbers of other customers who already had seven digit numbers will remain the same.

Customers will receive information about the new services in the mail.

Dear Abby . . .

Appreciation Is Always Welcome

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I don't have much of a problem, but I would like your opinion on this. When I paid my doctor bill, I enclosed a little note to my doctor telling him how much I appreciated his services.

A friend of mine said I was foolish for doing such a thing—that all a doctor was interested in from his patients, was the fee. I can't believe that. I thought he was such a wonderful doctor because of what he did for me I wanted him to know how I felt. Did I do wrong?

MRS. R.

DEAR MRS. R.: Not in my book. Doctors are people, and they do more than "sell" their services. A good doctor gives comfort, compassion, encouragement, hope and peace of mind. You can pay for shots, pills, treatment and surgery. But the only way to express appreciation for that which isn't on the bill is a simple "thank you." (P. S. But don't forget to enclose your check.)

DEAR ABBY: After a lot of discussion, we finally made a deal with our son and are letting him wear his hair the way he wants to. When I tell you that his hair is longer than his mother's, I am not putting you on. He is all boy, but he does help his mother in the kitchen, peeling vegetables, drying dishes, carrying out garbage, etc. This morning I found a hair about nine inches long in my breakfast food. It was his! (His mother has red hair, he has brown hair.) Don't you think this is reason enough to make him cut his hair?

GREENVILLE DAD

DEAR DAD: If the hair was NINE inches long, there is a better reason. But since you made a deal with him, don't wobble. Just make him wear a hairnet when he helps his mother in the kitchen.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I disagree on a

PROCLAMATION
THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK:
To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster:
GREETING:

Whereas, a Trial Term of Supreme Court and Jail Delivery is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, on Monday the 6th day of December, 1965.

We command you, in pursuance of the provisions of Section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in that case made and provided:
FIRST: That you summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law, to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors in the said Court to appear thereat.

SECOND: That you bring before the said Court, at the time and place then being in the Jail of said County, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff.

THIRD: That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-e of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognition or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who have taken any recognition for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognitions, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

WITNESS, Hon. Harry E. Schirick, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, the 18th day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixty-five.

JOSEPH P. TORRACA
District Attorney of the County of Ulster

In pursuance of the above precept, I hereby make Proclamation that a Term of Supreme Court of Ulster County and Jail Delivery will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, the 6th day of December, 1965 at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the Jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognition, or otherwise are required to appear thereat, and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other officers who may have taken any recognition for the appearance of any person at the said Court, or who may have taken any inquisition or the examination of any prisoner or witness are required to return such recognitions, inquisitions, and examinations on to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting thereof, and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances to do those things which to their office pertain. Dated: City of Kingston Nov. 18, 1965.

CLAUDE BELL,
Sheriff of Ulster County

very serious matter. We have a 15-year-old daughter who has been a handful ever since she was 12. She is very big for age, and boy crazy. The good Lord is surely watching over her or she'd have been in trouble more than once. A fellow who is 22 wants to marry her, and she wants to quit school and marry him. She needs our signatures. The man is a common laborer but he seems like a decent sort. He came to us and asked for her hand like a gentleman. My wife says we should sign and get her married so we won't have to worry about her anymore. I say she should know him longer because I'm afraid this marriage won't stick and we'll have her back in a year with a kid. She's only gone with him six weeks. We want your opinion.

WORRIED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: I hope your wife listens to you. Of all the reasons to sign for a 15-year-old to marry, your wife's is the poorest.

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that "confession" was good for the soul. Well, perhaps it is. But it is bad for the marriage. I suspected my husband of being unfaithful to me. At first he denied it, but I bedded him until he finally broke down and confessed everything. He begged to be forgiven and I told him I forgave him. But it has ruined our relationship. Although neither of us refers to it, in our most intimate moments, this woman forever sleeps between us.

Van Dyke Kin Has Uphill Climb In New TV Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Because he is the No. 2 Van Dyke brother, Jerry has to try a little harder. And with a starring vehicle like "My Mother, the Car," he has to try really hard.

It has been uphill all the way for "My Mother, the Car." It was one of the most ill-received shows of the season, critics carping at the premise of a car radio speaking to a young husband with the voice of his late mother. Ratings have been only fair, and the series is a precarious bet for a second season.

Jerry Van Dyke is quite naturally a realist, as you might expect of a man who is trying to get ahead in show business when his brother is Dick Van Dyke. With accustomed candor, Jerry was analyzing the series' ills on the set one day. "We're still feeling our way," he observed. "We've tried broad comedy, aiming at our kid audience, which seems to be considerable. We've also tried family situations to please the adults. I just work here."

Jerry stared at the 1928 auto which houses the voice of his mother — actually the voice of Ann Southern.

"You know, I could learn to hate that thing," he muttered. "It's tough talking to a car. I mean, when you're talking to an inanimate object, you're forced to animate yourself to keep the scene alive. I've done everything but stand on my head."

"Another difficult thing is shooting with one camera, like a movie. I've played before live audiences all my life; I thrive on the reaction of the crowd to pace my comedy. I'd much prefer a three-camera show before an audience, as Dick does. I think he's better under those conditions than he is in movies."

Win or lose, Jerry figures the show has been good for him, proving that he can carry a program on his own.

"And if it's canceled," he shrugged, "well, I've still got my banjo."

National Guard Flies Gifts to Viet Nam

New York Air National Guardsmen are playing a vital role in Operation Christmas Star, the airlift of Christmas gifts and packages to our military forces in Viet Nam. Faced with a considerable logistical problem in transporting an avalanche of mail and gifts, donated by many American organizations and individuals, the Air Force requested National Guard assistance.

Air National Guard transport units which have been flying MATS cargo missions to many parts of the globe for several years, eagerly accepted the task. It makes the first time that NY Air National Guard planes will fly directly to Viet Nam. Nationally, a total of 75 flights will be undertaken by National Guard airmen, over and above their already heavy schedule of overseas flights.

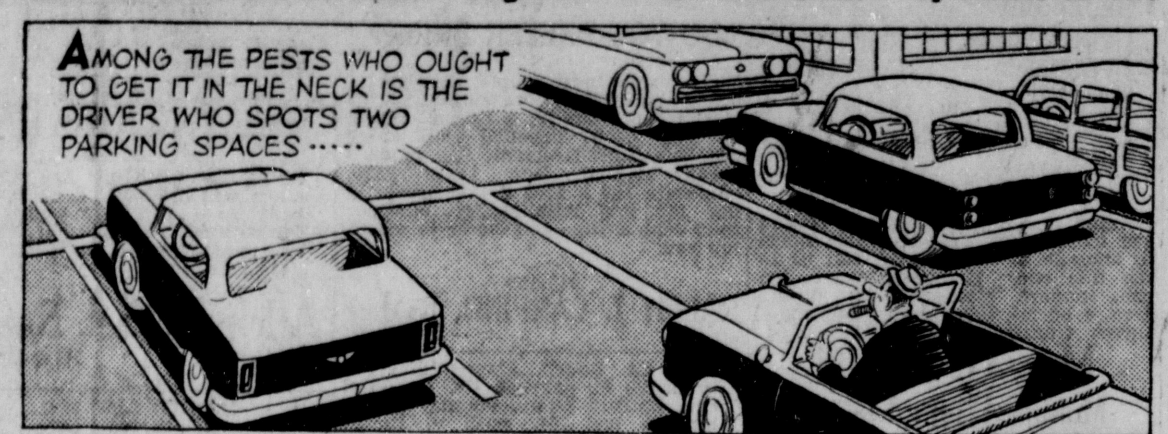

Maj. Gen. A. C. O'Hara, Chief of Staff to Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, pointed out "this is just one more example of the readiness capability and professional knowledge of our Air Guardsmen. It is most rewarding to realize that citizen airmen are contributing so significantly to delivery of this tangible evidence of support from the American people."

Arrested at Eatery

Peace Justice Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, sentenced a Saugerties man to five days in the Ulster County Jail today when the man admitted a disorderly conduct charge in connection with an investigation at the Malden Hot Shoppes on the Thruway. Trooper J. B. Fox, of the Thruway patrol, said Thomas M. Stasi, 20, of 74 Montgomery Street, Saugerties, was arrested about 3:30 a. m. today for being disorderly at the restaurant. Troopers J. F. Ryan and Fox made the investigation and arrest.

Special Vehicles Must Be Registered

Those specially-built devices that look like motorcycles on skis must be registered as motor vehicles if they are used along public highways.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults said they carry such trade names as Snowmobile, Snow Buggy, Skidoo and others. Most have a ski-like device on the front, and are propelled by a moving belt or chain on the rear.

Referred to in the law as Snowmobile or Snow Traveler, they are classified as "Special Purpose Commercial" vehicles and require a $2 annual fee, the Commissioner said. They must be registered and display plates if they are driven on public-maintained roads that are open to the public.

If they are registered, they are also subject to the State's Compulsory Insurance Law. They must be equipped with lights if used at night.

Hurt First Time, Killed in Repeat

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A 41-year-old steelsmith, who was hit in the chest about three weeks ago by a chunk of flying steel, suffered minor injuries but kept working, was killed Friday under similar circumstances.

Thelmer Mullins, of Rochester, was hit Friday by a heavier piece of hot steel near the same part of his chest while working at Monroe Forgings Inc.

A spokesman said Mullins, father of three, was holding a 37-pound block of heated steel under a steam-driven hammer, in an effort to make it into a ring.

The chunk flew off a table when the hammer smashed it and struck him in the chest. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

Cigars to Fit Features

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Men who smoke cigars choose them to "fit" their facial features, their personality and their wallet, says an industry official.

"As an industry, we are aware of masculine consciousness of fashions, not only in terms of dress, but in terms of accoutrements a man uses — wallets, wristwatches, luggage, eyeglasses, even up to the cigar he 'wears,'" Eugene L. Raymond of New York, president of the Cigar Institute of America, told an industry convention.

Attorney Raps Death Penalty Ruling on Pope

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury's decision that Duane E. Pope, 22, be electrocuted for slaying three bank employees in the bloodiest Midwest bank robbery in recent years, was attacked today by defense counsel as a "miscarriage of justice."

Robert B. Crosby, former governor of Nebraska who was appointed by the court as Pope's chief counsel, said he would go to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary in his fight to set aside the death penalty.

Pope's role in the tragedy at Big Springs, Neb., last June 4 was admitted at the outset of the trial, but Crosby contended that Pope was insane when he staged the $1,598 robbery and shot the bank employees as they lay face down on the floor.

However, the jury of 10 men and two women late Friday returned a guilty verdict after 14 hours of deliberation and ordered that the Kansas farm youth die. Judge Robert Van Pelt set 11:30 a.m. next March 3 a date for the execution. Appeal moves are expected to stay the date.

The chief prosecutor, U. S. Dist. Atty. Theodore L. Richling of Omaha, called it a "just verdict" from "an exceptionally high-caliber jury."

IUE Is Seeking Study of Labor Relations at GE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)

The president of an electrical workers union wants Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., and other government officials to study labor-management relations at the General Electric Co. plant here.

John Shambo, president of Local 301, International Union of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO), called for the investigation in a letter to O'Brien, made public Friday.

Shambo's action came as the union was to conclude a one-week strike at GE's Large Steam Turbine Generator Department. The strike of about 3,500 workers was called when the union said, department employees were unjustly "harassed by management."

"I feel that full employment in Schenectady is being threatened by the actions of General Electric," Shambo said.

There was no immediate comment from the company, or from O'Brien, who is reported to be out of the country.

Pentagon Seeks Reactivation of 25 Cargo Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has asked reactivation of 25 more World War II cargo ships to help keep the supply lines running in Viet Nam.

The Maritime Administration said Friday that the Pentagon wants the ships for use "in intra-area and coastal operations around Viet Nam."

The Defense Department has chartered some foreign vessels to carry supplies but its policy calls for use of U.S. ships when possible. Earlier this year 50 ships from the mothball fleet were reactivated.

Young Is Returning To Claims Court Job

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Fred A. Young, former Republican State Chairman, will return to the State Court of Appeals as its presiding judge, the job he quit two years ago to head the state GOP.

Young, 61, long a familiar figure in state politics, was named to the court Friday by Gov. Rockefeller for a nine-year term.

Two new seats on the court were created by the 1965 session of the Legislature. The other, earmarked for a Democrat, is unfilled.

Young is expected to succeed Judge John P. Gualtieri, who has asked to be relieved of the top post. Gualtieri will continue to serve as a judge, however.

Young originally was named to the court in 1949 by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Flashback to Remarkable Voyage Aimed at Halting WW I

'15 Survivors Deny Parallel Between Ford Peace Expedition, Viet Protests

EDITORS' NOTE — Peace

demonstrators march today in the United States — but 50 years ago they floated, aboard Henry Ford's chartered ship. Here's a vivid anniversary flashback to that remarkable, much-ridiculed voyage intended to stop World War I, and how some surviving participants remember it.

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — "We're going to try to get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas."

So saying, Henry Ford sailed off for Europe with 90 other idealists just 50 years ago — on Dec. 4, 1915 — in the Scandinavian-American liner Oscar II. His ambitious goal was to stop World War I.

Few Still Alive

Now, at a time when protesters against U.S. military involvement in Viet Nam march across the land, few members of the Ford peace mission still are alive.

They rejected any suggestion of a parallel between their peace campaign and the drive to get the United States out of Viet Nam.

Ford and his followers hoped to end World War I before the United States could be pulled into it.

Their chosen instrument was something they called the Neutral Conference for Continuous Mediation which they would set up in Stockholm in neutral Sweden.

Unlike the get-out-of-Viet Nam agitators, they had no quarrel with the nation's foreign policy.

But they had hopes that a private initiative might speed the day when peace negotiations would halt the carnage in Europe.

Largely Ridiculed

They were largely ridiculed by the press America and the world and almost wholly ignored by the belligerents.

"Great war ends Christmas Day, Ford to stop it" read a typically satirical headline in the New York Tribune.

The New York World called the voyage of the Oscar II "an impossible effort to establish an inopportune peace."

The crusading do-gooders struggled on for 14 fruitless months.

Finally, on Feb. 7, 1917, Ford washed his hands of the project, picked up a bill for $465,000 and remarked:

"Well, we got a million dollars worth of advertising out of it, and a hell of a lot of experience."

A survivor of the little band is Louis Lochner, a peace-monger of the day who later became a Pulitzer Prize-winning Associated Press foreign correspondent.

Interviewed by telephone at his home in Fair Haven, N.J., Lochner, now nearly 79, said cheerfully:

'Just Did Best'

"Well, the peace ship was a stunt but the welfare of humanity was in our thoughts. We felt that somebody ought to do something to end the war, and we did our best.

"Maybe it all came to nothing in the end, but who knows? Perhaps the Neutral Conference for Continuous Mediation germinated the idea which grew long after into the United Nations.

"The Viet Nam protests? There is no comparison between them and the Ford peace mission. The circumstances were so completely different."

Another survivor is Earl W. Tucker, 75, a retired banker of Syracuse, N.Y. He was one of 36 university students — 29 boys and seven girls — who comprised the young intellectual group aboard the Oscar II.

"The Ford expedition," said Tucker, "was not in any way the type of so-called peace demonstration we are seeing in connection with Viet Nam today, and had nothing in common with it."

"The present day demonstrations are aimed at criticizing our government's policy and attempting to bring pressure to bear to get it changed."

The delegates on the Ford expedition were desperately anxious to see a cease-fire arranged in World War I before our military involvement became necessary.

Many Went Into Uniform

"But when the United States later declared war and the die was cast, many of us who took part in this expedition joined the armed services of our country to do what we could to help defeat those who were hoping to conquer and enslave the free people of the world."

Became General

For example, Tucker said, his cabin mate on the Oscar II, William H. Draper Jr., went on to a military career and became a general in the U.S. Army.

The conception of a neutral mediation conference was a consensus of a number of groups with visionary plans for stopping the war.

One main group was headed by Rosika Schwimmer, a Hungarian pacifist and feminist, another by David Starr Jordan and Lochner.

Discussing the war during an interview, Ford remarked:

"I'd give all my money — and all my life — to stop it."

Talks with Madame Schwimmer and Lochner quickly followed and Ford told Lochner:

"We want to do something dramatic. We'll charter a ship."

Ford invited a cross-section of national leaders in to come aboard, but many who praised his objective found reasons for sending their regrets.

Edison Refuses Million

Thomas Alva Edison, a fellow inventor, went down to the pier in Hoboken to see Ford off and the motor magnate offered him a million dollars to join the company. Edison just smiled and shook his head.

Acceptors included S.S. McClure, publisher of the magazine which bore his name; Gov. Louis B. Hanna of North Dakota, and Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, a nationally famous liberal and reformer.

Elmer Davis, later to be one of the most noted of radio's newsmen, was one of the 54 newsmen assigned to the ship.

The Oscar II had hardly entered the Atlantic when Ford came down with a cold which confined him to his cabin for the rest of the trip.

Ford Leaves Ship

After a 15-day voyage, the ship arrived at Christiania, Norway. Four days later Ford left for Detroit, explaining that he had promised his wife he wouldn't be gone long.

The peace crusaders journeyed on to Stockholm, Copenhagen and Holland. In The Hague they made public a document outlining their principles, many of which were incorporated decades later in the charter of the United Nations.

The permanent council of mediation was established in Stockholm, with delegates from Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Switzerland and the United States. Most of the peace ship people then returned to America.

Lochner, who had remained on the scene, was recalled to America by Ford in January 1917. He saw President Woodrow Wilson twice and conferred with the motor magnate several times.

Within a few weeks, Wilson made his historic speech urging the belligerents to reach a "peace without victory."

Soon after, Ford told Lochner the private crusade in Europe should stop. He apparently felt that Wilson was doing as much for peace as could be expected of America, either governmentally or privately.

"He withdrew support from his peace mission under the influence of his business associates," said Lochner. "Ford was a man of genius, but like many another genius exceeding-ly unreliable."

Author Mark Sullivan, writing of the peace mission in the publication "Our Times," declared: "After its failure, dying down to an echo of gigantic and exhausted laughter, it deprived every other peace movement in the country of force and conviction."

THE VARNUM ASSOCIATED ARCHITECTS

THE VARNUM ASSOCIATED ARCHITECTS

House With an Outdoor Feeling for Modern Tastes

By JACK McELENNEY

I think we're getting to enjoy outdoor life more and more—witness the great popularity of outdoor furniture, portable fireplaces and the like.

Now comes a house plan by Associated Architects with an "outdoor" feeling. Plenty of space to move about on the inside, and very nicely tied with the outside. A porch, sheltered from the sun's direct rays by a planting bed nearby; living room with a huge window wall for natural lighting and a dramatic setting; breezeway connecting house and garage. Helps you to feel as if this is the most natural way of living.

And there are plenty of comforts, too. To prove that an outdoor house has its luxuries, let's glance at the highlights, with the help of the accompanying floor plan.

The three bedrooms offer the most comfortable sleeping quarters, and a good deal of closet space. You don't often find double-sized wardrobes like these. For that matter, where have you seen two large linen closets like the ones just inside and outside the bath?

The central location of the bath is another convenience. The tub, in its own niche, is just one of the attractions here.

Over to the other side, the kitchen measures 11 by 13½ feet and includes a lavatory. The expanse of counter space will make food preparation something pleasant instead of a chore. This is a compact kitchen, designed to utilize every inch of space, but you'll never feel that you are being cramped.

I've saved the living room for the last, because it's like a jewel in a smart setting. The size makes it practical for entertaining large numbers of friends, which also means that there's space for family fun too. A cheery fireplace adds to the room's warmth in more ways than one. Bookshelves in one side and a built-in china cabinet are money savers — you won't have to invest in expensive furniture. And there is ample space for dining.

I think you should examine the plans of this home carefully, even if you do not plan to build immediately. These drawings may be obtained at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon. With them you'll get a complete set of specifications to help protect your interest.

Perhaps you prefer brick or concrete block construction to the wood siding illustrated in the artist's sketch. The same set of blueprints shows how to build this attractive ranch house in all three materials.

Perhaps you've wondered about the possibility of obtaining a mortgage. You'll be pleased to know that plans for "The Varnum" meet property and construction requirements of the Federal Housing Administration. Fire safety is inherent because the plans call for electrical wiring to follow the National Electrical Code.

"The Varnum" has 1,250 square feet of living space, to which may be added another 550 square feet for the breezeway, porch and garage. In terms of cubage, the house occupies 28,000 cubic feet, including basement. Without the basement it is 23,000 cubic feet. When ordering, be sure to say if you want plans with or without basement.

Red Cross Teaches Ways To Minimize Fire Hazards

Fire, which ranked third nationally among accidental killers in 1964, will receive special emphasis in first aid classes conducted in New York by the American Red Cross, according to Howard E. Camp Jr., area director of Safety Services at Red Cross Eastern Area Headquarters in Alexandria, Va.

The 7,700 deaths in the United States attributed to fires and burns by the National Safety Council, last year, were exceeded only by those from motor vehicle accidents and falls, Camp says.

Fires from matches and smoking were responsible nationally for 22 per cent of the fatalities, with misuse of electrical equipment a close second with 20 per cent. Defective heating units account for another 10 per cent.

In 1966 Red Cross chapters across the country will conduct upwards of 60,000 free first aid courses and more than a million certificates for completion of these courses will be awarded. In these classes, and in informal first aid instruction for millions of others, both first aid care for burns and prevention of fires will receive special attention.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, the Safety Services section of the Red Cross issued, through its statewide chapters, 92,582 First Aid Certificates, 216,746 Water Safety Certificates, and 2,060 Small Craft Certificates in New York. The certificates were awarded to individuals who successfully completed these courses given at chapter houses or in other areas for Red Cross use, such as municipal swimming pools.

Accident prevention, Camp points out, is one of the main objectives of first aid training, along with immediate and temporary care of the victim of an accident or sudden illness. Information about first aid classes may be obtained through your local Red Cross.

Recognition of what constitutes a fire hazard and caution in eliminating as many of these hazards as possible, Camp said, could bring about a marked reduction in the number of fires and the needless tragedies they cause.

In offering a list of suggestions which can help cut down fires and resulting injury or death, Camp noted that many of the "tips" are so simple and elementary that they should be obvious to anyone, and yet it is because these simple rules of safety are neglected or ignored that fire and death or severe burns result.

Here are the Red Cross suggestions for reducing fire hazards in the home:

Smoking

Do not smoke in bed or in upholstered furniture.

Discard cigarette butts in a safe place, not in wastebaskets.

Use large, deep ashtrays.

Do not smoke near flammable liquids (gasoline, paint thinner).

Do not smoke or light matches in attics, closets, or confined places, near clothes, paper, and other combustibles.

Keep matches and lighters out of children's reach.

Heating and Cooking Equipment

Have your chimney cleaned and checked regularly.

Don't place heaters, stoves, and smoke pipes near combustible walls and ceilings.

Do not place clothing or furniture near stoves, heaters, or fireplaces.

Clean your oven and broiler regularly.

Stretcher Jacks Up

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A movable hospital bed that jacks up like a barber's chair makes life easier for patients and volunteer workers at Memorial Hospital. With a simple pumping motion of the foot, the rolling stretcher's level may be changed to parallel the patient's bed, the X-ray table or the operating table.

Uptown Kingston Scene Of Recent Improvements

Uptown Kingston has been the scene of many improvements during the past year, as new businesses moved in and established businesses renovated their premises.

A major project now underway is the reconstruction and enlargement of the Wall Street main office of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

New establishments on Wall street since last Christmas include The Premier Restaurant, Robert Kreines children's shoes, and the Singer Sewing Center, which moved from Fair Street. The three-story building at John and Wall, which formerly housed Whelan's, has been repainted and is being made ready for a restaurant.

Extensive renovations are being completed in the historic old Kingston Academy building, corner of John and Crown Streets, at the center of the old stockade. The occupant will be a restaurant named, appropriately enough, The Stockade.

On Fair Street, grading and other site work is being completed in front of the new Ulster County Office Building. Across Main Street, the former County Health Department building is being demolished to provide parking.

A new arrival on Fair Street is the Kingston office of the First Albany Corporation, members of the New York and American Stock Exchanges.

Changes on North Front Street include the addition of the Hudson Rug Company and Sue's Beauty Salon. The Colonial City Carpet Company moved during the year into larger, attractively renovated quarters in the building which once housed the A. & P. supermarket. S. Rudisch, optometrist, who was located on Fair Street, has his new office on North Front Street.

Uptown during the past year has attracted area-wide attention with several promotions. A showing of antique automobiles in August attracted participants and spectators from the entire Eastern Portion of New York State. A new car show was held last month, and a U. S. Air Force Bomarc missile was on display over the Veterans Day weekend. All these promotions were sponsored by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association, which also conducted Spring and Fall "Shower of Prizes" promotions and the February and August Dollar Day sales. All new Christmas lighting was provided by the Association this year.

Watch That Satellite

MONTREAL (AP)—If a piece of satellite hit you on the head, you could sue the government that sent it up and probably win the case, an expert in air and space law says.

Sir Francis Vallant, acting director of the McGill University Institute of Air and Space Law, discussed legal problems and possibilities in the field at a news conference Thursday.

"There are many reasons why most countries would be anxious to avoid any legal complications," he said. "First, of course, there is public opinion. Then there is a general agreement, which is not a law, that a country is responsible for any damage caused by a satellite that belongs to it or that it has launched."

NASA Official Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Hugh L. Dryden took his first airplane trip in a Curtis Eagle, maximum speed 107 miles a hour.

"I hope," he wrote recently, "that I may have the good fortune to witness the first landing of men on the moon within a few years."

The wish will go unfulfilled. Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, died Thursday night of cancer. He was 67.

Dryden's boss, NASA Administrator James E. Webb, said, "Scientific, engineering and administrative competence and his qualities of humanity and leadership mark him as one of the truly great men" in the conquest of air and space.

Residents Are Urged to Mail Early and Often

The Post Office Department has come a long way since 1815 when 2,000 men were injured or died in New Orleans because it took months to get a high priority message from Belgium to New Orleans, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said.

Two or three-day delivery is standard practice for such a letter today.

"However, if people hold the vast volume of Christmas mail until the last moment, even a high priority letter could be bogged down in the mail avalanche," the Postmaster said.

The 1812 incident was the Battle of New Orleans. General Andrew Jackson's forces defeated a British army on January 8, more than two weeks after a peace treaty had been signed ending the War of 1812. The message wasn't delivered until March 6.

"While the late delivery of Christmas mail may not be as tragic," the Kingston Postmaster said, "much of the joy of Christmas would be lost."

"About seven billion pieces of mail will be delivered nationally during the Christmas peak season. To make sure it gets to the proper destination in time everyone should plan to mail as far in advance as possible. Mail as early as possible and not save all gifts and greetings for one deposit."

"In other words, mail early and often."

It took 19 days of hard riding for the courier from Washington to reach General Jackson. Unfortunately, he could only give a verbal account of the signing of the peace treaty. In the hurry to depart, he had been given the wrong pocket of papers. The only written support of his report was the order he carried, signed by the Postmaster General, di-

Boulevard velvet with its crush- and spot-resistant qualities will play an important role in fashion for late-day and evenings during the holiday season. Its queenly beauty is intensified (left) by a jewel-encrusted satin bodice and graceful satin-lined stole in this design by Rappi. recting postal employees along the way to give the courier assistance in delivering the important message.

Postmaster Newkirk said there is a parallel for Christmas mail.

"Mailers should double check the addresses against the items they are sending. Every year stories are told of envelopes or packages being mailed with no address, or illegible addresses. Sometimes people even inadvertently mail packages before they are wrapped."

The Postmaster urged that ZIP Code be used in all mail—in both return and destination addresses.

Charters $7,000 Plane

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) —The last plane for Tel Aviv had already left when Brazilian exporter Yeheskel Juri arrived at Rome airport Thursday night on his way to see his seriously ill father.

He chartered an Italian jet-liner for $7,000 and completed the trip as the only passenger in the 95-seat plane. Doctors told Juri when he arrived that his 85-year-old father was a little better.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Dec. 4, the 338th day of 1965. There are 27 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1783, George Washington bade farewell to his officers in New York City.

On this date In 1776, the first American warship entered European waters; it carried Benjamin Franklin on a mission seeking help from France.

In 1808, Napoleon entered the city of Madrid and suppressed the inquisition.

In 1918, President Woodrow Wilson sailed for France at the end of World War I.

In 1942, American bombers delivered their first blow against the mainland of Italy.

In 1942, President Franklin Roosevelt ordered the liquidation of the Works Progress Administration.

Ten years ago — The American Federal of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations met in New York to consider a merger.

Five years ago — A proposal was made for the merger of four major Protestant bodies: the Methodist Church, the Protestant Episcopal Church, the United Presbyterian Church and the United Church of Christ.

One year ago — The FBI arrested 21 persons in Mississippi in connection with the murder of three civil rights workers.

Barge Canal Closing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state barge canal system will be closed for the winter at 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The Public Works Department said the system would be reopened to commercial and pleasure craft in mid-April of 1966.

Guard Promotes Schaedlich to Grade of Major

POUGHKEEPSIE—An announcement was made today by Lt. Col. James H. Ackema Jr., commanding officer, 2nd Battalion (Honest John) 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, of the promotion to the grade of Major, Artillery, of Otto A. Schaedlich, 2 Willow Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

Federal recognition of Major Schaedlich in his new grade was announced in special orders issued this week by Major General Winston P. Wilson, Chief, National Guard Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Major Schaedlich also received a commission as Major in the State's Armed Forces which was signed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Brigadier General Joseph T. Willey, the Adjutant General.

Career Officer

Maj. Schaedlich has over 20 years of military service having enlisted in the ERC as a private in September 1945. He took his basic training at Fort Sill, Okla., and then entered the Regular Army service with the 2nd Armored Division. He was assigned to the Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky., and attended several military schools there. In May 1947 he was released from active duty and assigned to the U. S. Army Reserve until March 1949 when he joined the local Army National Guard unit, Battery C 156th Field Artillery Battalion. In 1952, he attended the Artillery Survey course at Fort Sill, Okla. He was rapidly promoted in the ranks to become a master sergeant. In July 1953, he received his initial appointment as a second lieutenant, Artillery, in the Army National Guard and three years later a promotion to first lieutenant. He continued to further his military education by attending the Field Artillery Battery Officer course at Fort Sill, returning to serve with Battery C until November 1957.

Upon transfer to the USAR he was assigned as executive officer with Battery A, 902 Field Artillery Battalion, 77th Division, located in Poughkeepsie.

In March 1959, Major Schaedlich returned to service with the New York Army National Guard to join Battery B, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery in Poughkeepsie. He took command

Forgot to Collect Alimony

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—The Circuit Court clerk has $2,500 which wives didn't claim for alimony and child support.

Money totaling $1,354.85, a portion of the $2,243.35 which has been accumulating as far back as 1921, will be turned over to the state.

Funds not claimed within seven years become payable to the state.

LASTING IMPRESSION—

of that unit upon the resignation of the commander. In addition to his duties as a battery commander, he also served as officer in charge and control of the State Armory until June 1963. Appointed captain in June 1961, he continued as the unit commander. (The unit was redesignated as Headquarters Battery, 2nd Battalion, 156th Artillery in April 1963.) He found time during 1964 to attend and graduate from the Associate Field Artillery Officers Career course at the U. S. Army Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Okla. He has served as the Battalion Communications officers and since April 1965 has been assigned Operations and Training Officer (S3).

While serving as OIC&C of the local State armory he was instrumental in activating much local interest in an effort to obtain a new armory for Poughkeepsie to replace the present obsolete structure built in 1891.

Maj. Schaedlich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Schaedlich of Sedgwick Avenue, New York. He attended Indiana Technical College, Fort Wayne, Ind., where he studied mechanical engineering. Professionally, he is a member of the American Society of Tool Engineers and fraternally, a member of Poughkeepsie Lodge, F&A Masons. He is employed at IBM, Poughkeepsie, as an associate engineer.

He is married to the former Miss Marguerite Sprenger of Poughkeepsie. They have three children, Eric 4½, Carol 3 and Kristine 1½.

May Extend Tours For GIs in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland has the authority to extend tours of duty for U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam "for any length of time if he requires it for combat necessity," the Defense Department said today.

But, a spokesman added, the commander of U.S. forces has said that "his policy is not to exceed 30 days" of added duty in Viet Nam.

The question arose out of reports by some parents or Army personnel that their sons had written that they had been ordered to stay on for three extra months.

The usual tour in Viet Nam for combat personnel is one year, but some voluntarily extend their service beyond that time.

Ancient Taras

TARANTO, Italy (AP)—Excavations for a new hospital here uncovered two tombs of the 6th Century B.C. which are believed to be part of the burial ground of the ancient Greek colonial city Taras. They contained skeletons, urns of the Greek kylikes-type decorated with Dionysian scenes, and jewelry in amber and bronze.

Home Extension Service News

Buying rugs or carpets nowadays is one of the toughest jobs a woman faces. Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, points out in the following article:

Buying rugs or carpets nowadays is one of the toughest jobs a woman faces.

You may know pretty well what you're looking for. You may have measured your floors and estimated yardage for the material. You may have read home decorating books and Extension leaflets. You may have talked to friends and relatives.

It's still tough. It's tough because you're buying a high priced item. It's going to be in your house for 5 to 10, or 15 years — so you had better be right when you make that purchase. Thus, you start off wondering if this carpet is just what you want.

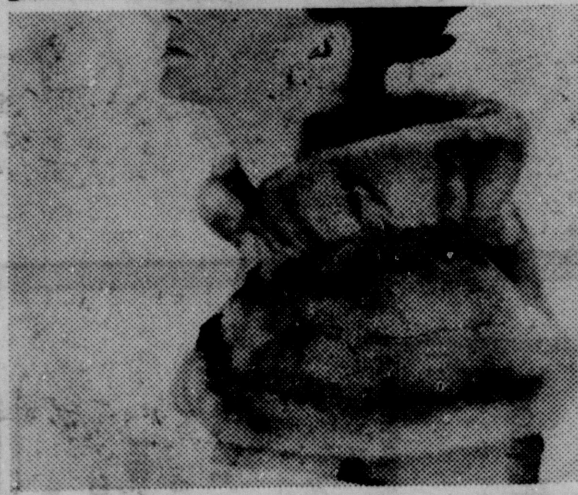

It's tough because few of us are sure that we can judge the quality. Is that pile close enough for long wear? Will this carpet mat from footprints?

So — to cut down frustrations and uncertainties, first do your homework. Send for the Home Economics Extension Leaflet 9, "When You Buy a Rug or Carpet". In this leaflet you will read about choosing a color, pattern, and texture. Size, construction, and care are discussed.

If you find that you can not buy the best quality for all your rooms, consider this order. Choose a top grade for a rug or carpet in heavy traffic areas such as stairways, hall ways, and living rooms that receive heavy use. Medium grades can be bought for normal traffic areas such as dining rooms, much-used bedrooms, or living rooms in night use. Budget qualities should be chosen for limited use, such as guest bedrooms, or

If she likes perfume, she will enjoy a fragrance that, once used, is claimed to last all day (top left). Fun for any coed is the Op Sock 2 in black and white with matching Op Cap (top right). Made of stretch nylon, one size fits all. An ideal gift for the young individualist is a charm bracelet or necklace and pendant made

quality carpeting will not last long in a high traffic area.

The second thing you should remember if you are to get what you want in rugs and carpets is to choose a reliable dealer. He buys from a reliable manufacturer. Also, most retailers offer a shopping service in the home so that the buyer can see the carpet, rug, or samples where it will be used and by day and evening light. These retailers will take proper measurements in your home for a carpet installation and will figure the exact cost. Remember to get a record from the store of guaranteed services and of any budget terms.

Don't Repeat

If you like furniture in deep colored, richly patterned hardwoods, don't make them disappear in the room by repeating the same type of wood for wall surfaces. Instead, set off your cherished pieces with a wall that accents by contrasting color and texture. Paneling in vertical grain, champagne colored western hemlock is one recommended choice.

Shoppers Warned Of Frauds During Holiday Season

Christmas shoppers were urged today not to accept C.O.D. deliveries without first marking certain the package contains merchandise purchased by them or a member of their household. The unwary victim may find himself paying $30 for an item worth $2. A fraudulent delivery man will have led the person to think the package contained a valuable "surprise gift."

That warning was issued by Interstate Security Services, Inc., New York City, one of the nation's oldest and largest firms specializing in commercial, industrial and residential security and protection services.

Under no circumstances, the company said, should anyone accept a C.O.D. delivery addressed to a recently deceased member of one's family without being certain it is not a fraud. In their grief, many people pay for such merchandise without questioning it, according to Interstate.

A variation of this fraud involves the delivery of C.O.D. merchandise to a neighbor under the pretext that the addressee "is not home, and we know they wanted this today." As a precaution, you should not accept deliveries for neighbors unless you are asked to do so by the neighbor and are given pertinent information regarding the delivery.

The security firm has set forth a number of tips to help reduce one's chances of being robbed or swindled, or both, during the holiday season.

This is the peak season for fraudulent salesmen and bunco artists posing as solicitors for charitable groups. Fund raisers are required to register with the Department of Welfare and carry proper identification. Ask for credentials. If in doubt, verify the person's mission with the police department, the company or organization in question, or the Better Business Bureau.

Notify the police of suspicious persons who try to gain entry to your home without proper identification. In all instances, make certain the person has not released the lock while talking with you in the doorway, a tactic used by fraudulent salesmen to rob apartments.

Before leaving your home unoccupied for any period of time, lock all exterior doors and windows securely. Pin-tumbler cylinder locks are recommended for exterior doors. Unlike the late-type mechanism, the dead-bolt lock cannot easily be tripped or released with celluloid or other thin, flexible objects.

Ordinary window catches are easy to open: the burglar simply removes a small circle of glass with a glass cutter. Windows facing on fire escapes or driveways should be equipped with supplementary locks, available at hardware stores.

Make sure your home has that "lived-in" look while you are out shopping or visiting. Leave shades or blinds in a normal position, not completely drawn. Leave a light burning in rooms fronting on the street. An automatic timing device may be purchased which will turn the lights on at a pre-selected time during your absence. The device can be particularly useful in instances where you leave your home during the daylight hours and do not expect to return until after dark.

Do not try to hide large sums of money at home. There are no safe hiding places; burglars are thorough. Instead, rent a safe deposit box for jewelry, cash and important documents.

If you plan to be away from home for an extended period of time, cancel all deliveries and arrange to have the post office or a neighbor hold your mail while you are away.

Notify the police department of your planned absence, giving them the dates of your departure and return. Also be sure to keep a relative or close friend advised of your whereabouts.

Make a list of valuable household and personal property. Include the serial numbers of typewriters, cameras, watches, television sets, record players, etc. These numbers are used by the police to trace stolen articles. Keep this list in a safe place.

and employment and wages are rising. Despite the optimism, over three-quarters of the respondents predict that Christmas business will be either harder to get or will require as great an effort as last year. This is due almost completely to retailer estimates that their competition has kept pace with their rising sales potential. Specifically cited were the building of new shopping centers, the difficulties in building downtown store traffic and increased advertising by competitors.

The survey shows that retailers are nearly as optimistic regarding profits as they are concerning sales. Seventy-two percent look for profit increases this Christmas, 16% expect profits to remain the same, five percent see a decline and 7% are undecided. The median profit increase expected by those retailers who look forward to an increase is five percent, the same estimate as last year.

Continuing the trend to kicking off Christmas promotions early, over half of the participating retailers say they will start their promotions prior to November 21, the start of Thanksgiving week. Fourteen percent of the merchants indicated that they will be starting their Christmas drives earlier than last year.

Bigger advertising budgets are planned by 46% of the stores — the median increase is 10%. Fifty-one percent plan to maintain advertising at last year's level and only three percent expect to trim their ad budget.

As in previous years, merchants will rely heavily on daily newspapers as their basic advertising medium. Nearly three out of four — 72% — plan to invest 80% or more of their Christmas ad budgets in newspapers, over 11% will invest 100% and 36% will invest from 90-99% of their ad dollars in newspaper advertising during the holiday season. Color television sets is the leading merchandise line expected to show the biggest percentage gain over last Christmas. More than twice as many retailers cited color TV as mentioned women's sportswear, the line with the next most mentions. Other probable fast movers this holiday season are: toys, men's clothing, appliances, lingerie, cosmetics and toiletries, diamond jewelry.

A number of retailers commenting on competition feel that Christmas business will be harder to get, not only because of the competition in their own lines, but also from other types of stores. For example, a Tennessee ladies fashion apparel and gift store merchant says: "The public is over-committed on debt for hard goods purchases — cars, color TV, etc. — and have less to spend on soft goods and traditional gift items." "We have no appliances — feel color TV, stereo and autos will be heavy this year due to the excise tax reduction," reports an Ohio department store retailer.

"Competition in this area is keener than it has been. Most stores are better stocked with higher grade merchandise," says a Utah department store merchant.

A Maryland discounter feels sales will rise but "stronger promotions will get the extra sales."

Included in this year's survey were 277 retailers covering 111 markets in 37 states and three Canadian provinces. Approximately half the respondents were department store merchants. Fifteen other store types were also represented.

The Bureau's business survey — now in its twelfth consecutive year — is part of an annual drive to highlight Christmas sales opportunities.

Dry Town

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek Meteorological Service said the month of September set a record here. Not a drop of rain fell in the entire area that month.

This old expression for the United States came into existence during the Revolutionary War. Elbert Anderson and "Uncle" Sam Wilson were contractors who marked their goods with their initials. One day Elbert Anderson marked a shipment to the new United States, "E. A. to U. S." Soldiers, seeing the mark, mistook it to mean Elbert Anderson — to Uncle Sam (Wilson).

Says Demonstrators May Lose Draft Status

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—College students who demonstrate "against the national interest" could lose their draft-exempt status, says a New York State Selective Service official. Col. John Brokaw, deputy director of the state Selective Service, said Friday that local draft boards have the authority to reclassify any student "demonstrating or doing something else which might not be in the national interest."

Brokaw said draft boards are not obliged to exempt college students from the draft.

Uptown Business Section Offers Unique Contrast

Since Colonial days the area now known as uptown Kingston has been the hub of business, commercial, financial and governmental activity.

Because dominance has continued throughout three centuries, the uptown area offers a unique contrast. Only two blocks separate the old Senate House, one of the oldest public buildings in the United States, from the gleaming new Ulster County office building.

The Senate House is so called because the first popularly elected Senate of the State of New York met in its first session in this building on the morning of Sept. 10, 1777. The house dates from 1676 when it was built as a home by Colonel Wessel Ten-Broeck. Maintained as a historical site, the Senate House and the nearby museum are visited by from 16,000 to 20,000 people annually. It is located at the corner of North Front Street and Clinton Avenue.

The new six-story, steel and glass county office building is located at the corner of Fair and Main Streets. The area in front of the building, site of the old County Clerk's office which has been demolished, is currently being graded for landscaping and other work to provide an attractive mall in front of the entrance.

Much of the area of the present uptown business district lies within the 30-acre plot that was enclosed by the stockade laid out in 1658 by Governor Peter Stuyvesant for the protection of the early Dutch settlers.

Last summer many visitors to Kingston had the opportunity to participate in walking tours of the uptown district, arranged largely through the efforts of Mrs. Allan L. Hanstein. Points of interest on the tour included the Old Dutch Church and the monument to George Clinton, New York State's first governor, who is buried in the churchyard; the Ulster County Courthouse on the site of the original courthouse where the first constitution of the State was adopted April 20, 1777; and the DAR Chapter House at the intersection of Crown and Green Streets.

Also of interest to the visitor is the Hoffman House on North Front Street now owned by the Salvation Army. This old stone home was built in 1670 on a grant of land that was given to the Hoffman family by Queen Anne. It was in the southwest corner of the old stockade, and there is evidence today of the peepholes through which muskets

Mrs. Ottesen Is Lauded for Work As Psychologist

Outstanding and superb work of Mrs. Constance P. Ottesen, psychologist for the Kingston School District Consolidated, is highly commended by Alden N. Haffner, O.D., Ph.D., executive director of Optometric Center of New York, in a letter read at Thursday night's meeting of the Board of Education.

W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools, received the letter, which was entered in the official minutes of last night's Board meeting.

Dr. Haffner referred in his letter to the outstanding and superb work of Mrs. Ottesen, with regard to the care of the children in the Kingston public school system, particularly those in her immediate charge in the Child Study Section.

"Mrs. Ottesen has been a rare and unusual psychologist, extremely perceptive and sensitive to the needs of youngsters and, particularly so, with regard to their visual and perceptual abilities," Dr. Haffner said. "Over the last few years, this very dedicated woman has had an abiding concern and by virtue of the reports which this institution has received relative to the specific needs of some of these children, I can only judge Mrs. Ottesen is representative of an outstanding school system."

The letter continues: "Her awareness and sensitivity to the problems of the perceptually handicapped child have been a model which other persons in comparable positions should follow. The rapport which has developed between Mrs. Ottesen and the professional staff in the Development Vision Clinic of the Optometric Center of

New York bespeaks the highest level of interdisciplinary cooperation for the better interest of the child. Mrs. Ottesen has represented forward thinking and a progressive intellectuality which is both stimulating and constructive."

Y Health Clubs Hit New Peak

The YMCA men's and women's health clubs, now open daily, are well attended, Y Secretary Lou Schafer announces.

Upwards of 50 women participate in Tuesday morning and evening gym classes and swimming followed by showers and sauna baths. These two classes are repeated on Friday under the leadership of Linda Farrow, gym and swimming instructor. There are also special swimming classes on Monday and Wednesday nights, one for beginners, the other for recreation swimming and diving.

The men's health club participates in physical fitness classes on Monday and Thursday at 7:30 p. m. under the leadership of Victor Nipper. The gym workout is followed by volleyball and paddleball. The steam bath and swimming pool complete the recreation program.

Seventy one women and approximately 160 men are resistered in the health clubs. There are openings for additional members in each club. Information may be obtained by calling the YMCA.
